

Passengers Land At Recife From Liner Santa Maria

Ship Anchored 500 Yards Off Dock; Tugs Remove Group

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Their captivity ended, the passengers of the hijacked liner Santa Maria came ashore today with thanksgiving for deliverance from a nightmare at sea.

The 20,906-ton Portuguese ship steamed into Recife at noon, anchoring just off a dock. An hour later the nearly 600 passengers began loading onto tugs for the last 500 yards of a voyage that had taken them virtually the distance of a trip across the United States.

For the time being at least, the odyssey of the Portuguese liner was ended—12 days after she was hijacked, 2,900 miles away in the Caribbean, by Portuguese rebels headed by Capt. Henrique Galvao.

The Brazilian government had not announced what was to be done about the ship after the landing of the nearly 600 passengers. A Brazilian admiral told the U.S. Navy Caribbean commander at Norfolk, Va., the Santa Maria reportedly will steam back into international waters after discharging her captive passengers at Recife.

Waited Over 24 Hours
The liner moved into shore after several tense sessions of bargaining between Galvao and Brazilian authorities.

The 610-foot ship sailed slowly to within 500 yards of a dock. Passengers jammed the rails, waving and shouting. Some cried with emotion at the end of their captivity.

For more than 24 hours the passengers had been within tempting sight of land—about three miles offshore—as negotiations for the landing went on. Some of the passengers had been verging on panic as rations ran short while the hot equatorial sun beat down upon the ship.

Arranged for Return
Galvao refused to tie the ship at the dock. Tugs went out to begin taking off the passengers. Buses were brought up to take passengers to the Portuguese Club.

4 Passenger Cars Of Train Quit Rails in Maryland
BOWIE, Md. (AP) — A Pennsylvania Railroad special carrying passengers to Bowie race course derailed today, overturning four coaches of the 10-car train.

The dining car of the race course special from Philadelphia also jumped the track but remained upright. Two diesel locomotives pulling the train also overturned.

There was no immediate word on how many race-bound passengers were aboard the train, which was wrecked at the junction where the train turns from the Pennsylvania's main line into the course.

Eight ambulances were en route from nearby Ft. Meade, a big army installation north of the site.

State police called for 30 ambulances. The railroad said any casualties would be taken to Ft. Meade Army hospital.

One report said four persons were trapped in one of the cars.

One Oil Tanker Freed From Ice
CHICAGO (AP) — One of two oil tankers trapped in an ice pack off Chicago's Lake Michigan shore ploughed through ragged ice fields toward clear water Thursday after being freed by Coast Guard craft.

But the second tanker, the 308-foot Detroit, remained jammed in compact ice up to three feet thick in spite of efforts by the Coast Guard to free it. The Detroit and the 400-foot Suebert became trapped last Wednesday night about a mile from Chicago.

The Coast Guard said there was no immediate danger to either ship although the crews reportedly were suffering somewhat from the 15-degree cold.

Coast Guard authorities said the Detroit—unlike the Suebert—was empty after delivering oil in Racine, Wis. It's lack of weight, they said, made it an easy victim of the ice.

Italian Police Fight Student Mob of 3,000
ROME (AP) — Riot police fought off 3,000 students trying to attack the Austrian embassy today in retaliation for dynamite in the disputed Italian South Tyrol.

A smaller mob of students tried to crash into the chamber of deputies.

Tens of thousands of high school and university students cut classes throughout Italy to parade in protest against the dynamite.

Kennedy Urges Higher Age Pensions, Faster Spending

President Kennedy Turns to answer a newsman's questions at a news conference. The chief executive is flanked by the American flag and the presidential flag on the stage of the new State Department Building auditorium.

Plan Informal Talks

British, U. S. Chiefs To Confer in April

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will confer here the week of April 2.

Announcing this today, the White House said a round of informal talks is planned.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger issued this statement:

"The President has invited Prime Minister Macmillan, who is making a trip to the Federation of the West Indies, accompanied by Lady Dorothy Macmillan, to stop in Washington during the week of April 2 for informal talks.

"The prime minister has accepted the invitation.

"The President is pleased that an opportunity has presented itself to become acquainted with Mr. Macmillan and for a general discussion of world problems."

Details Not Completed
Salinger said details regarding the meeting will be announced later.

This will be Kennedy's first round of talks with another head of government since he took office.

Among subjects likely to be discussed is the possibility of a summit conference of Western leaders with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The new administration has indicated a go-slow approach on this matter. However, Macmillan has been an advocate of summit conferences.

Earlier reports from London had indicated Macmillan planned to fly here late next month, or a little earlier than the schedule finally set up.

Either date, however, would preclude a Kennedy-Macmillan conference in advance of the possible summit.

Judge Sends Dope User To Prison

WAUPACA — Erwin G. Ekren, 45, Minneapolis, was sentenced to five years in the State Prison, Waupun, Wednesday afternoon by Circuit Judge Herbert Bunde at Wisconsin Rapids on a charge of possessing narcotics, a syringe and needle.

Undersheriff George Meating took Ekren to the Waupun prison later Wednesday afternoon.

Ekren, who was arrested Tuesday afternoon at Weyauwega by Chief of Police Kenneth Thompson, entered a plea of guilty Wednesday afternoon at Wisconsin Rapids, where he was brought to Circuit Court by Sheriff Ray Abrahamson.

A needle, syringe and pellet of Dilaudid, which is considered one of the strongest drugs, was found on Ekren when he was searched Tuesday afternoon at Weyauwega. It was found sewed in a pouch on Ekren's underclothing.

Investigators learned that the pellet of drug was to be dissolved in a liquid and administered by Ekren in his arm. His left arm was punctured by between 25 and 30 needle injections.

Committee Approves Space Program Head
WASHINGTON (AP) — James E. Webb, picked by President Kennedy to direct the nation's ambitious space program, won approval from the senate Space Committee today even before his nomination was sent to the senate.

Expected senate confirmation later will clear the way for Webb to become administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Also Favors Extension of Jobless Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today handed Congress a sweeping anti-recession program built on faster federal spending, higher old age pensions and an emergency extension of unemployment pay.

Kennedy's tightly-packed 7,500-word special message brought the news that joblessness rose by 900,000 in January to a total of 5.4 million.

The President said he would submit further proposals to Congress within 75 days if business does not improve.

Some Gains Seen
His message spoke of the general expectation that there will be "minor improvements" in business this year. But he added "speaking out of realism, not pessimism, we cannot rule out the possibility of further deterioration if we fail to act."

Kennedy predicted his economic proposals would "abate the waste and misery" of unemployment and "restore momentum to the American economy." He said they would not, by themselves, unbalance the $90.9-billion budget unveiled last month by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Yet Kennedy did not provide Congress with cost estimates of any of his proposals today as he called for quick approval of Turn to Page 16, Col. 2

Rayburn May Get Protocol Promotion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas is due for a protocol promotion, the Washington Post said today.

The Post said President Kennedy wants the speaker ranked third in social protocol, after the President and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Under the 1947 presidential succession act, the house speaker is next in line for the presidency after the vice president.

However, socially the chief justice has held third place in the capital. Presumably, under Kennedy's plan Chief Justice Earl Warren would rank fourth.

Acts on 3 Fronts to Help Battle Slump

Experimental Food Stamp Plan Proposed by President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Without waiting for Congress to act on his anti-recession program, President Kennedy has moved on three fronts to spur the lagging economy and relieve hardship.

At a news conference Wednesday, Kennedy ruled out any tax cut at this time as a means of dealing with the slump. But he announced he has taken these steps designed to brighten the picture:

More than $250 million in G. I. insurance dividends will be paid out this winter instead of spreading the payments through the year as planned originally.

The maximum interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages is being cut. The reduction is from 5 1/2 per cent to 5 1/4 in a move to encourage home buying and building.

An experimental stamp plan to provide free food for the needy is being put into effect in some areas of the worst chronic unemployment. These are West Virginia, Pennsylvania, southern Illinois, eastern Kentucky and one other section to be specified later.

(Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Wednesday night he learned from unofficial sources that Detroit is to be the fifth area.)

Executive Action
Kennedy took these actions under executive authority—in advance of sending to Congress today an economic recovery program which will require approval by the legislators before it can be put into effect.

At his second session with newsmen since taking office, the new president volunteered these announcements at the start of the conference. He also disclosed he has repealed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's controversial order cutting back the number of dependents living overseas with servicemen. Eisenhower issued the order in a move to reduce expenditure of dollars abroad.

Kennedy said the repeal "does not imply any weakening of our Turn to Page 5, Col. 2

Ceylon Says Congo Stability Hinges on Lumumba Release

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Ceylon told the U.N. Security Council today political stability cannot be restored in the Congo unless deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba is released from prison.

But his captors in the Congo informed the United Nations Lumumba's fate is strictly the business of Congo authorities, and that for the time being "there should be no contact between Mr. Lumumba and the outside world."

Praises Lumumba
H. O. Wijegoonewardena, Ceylonese delegate, praised Lumumba as the man who upholds the principle of unity and political independence for the Congo. He said the United Nations could not permit Lumumba to remain in the hands of authorities of Katangaland province, which broke away from the central government of President Joseph Kasavubu.

Just before he spoke the U.N. released a letter to secretary-general Dag Hammarskjold from President Moise Tshombe of Katanga declaring that in view of Lumumba's crimes against the Congolese people, "it is essential that the authorities of the former Belgian Congo alone should decide, without interference from the outside, what treatment he shall be given and what is to be done to him."

Tshombe's letter amounted to a rebuff to Hammarskjold, who has suggested to Congolese political leaders that Lumumba be released.

Bonn Offers to Pay $1 Billion

Ready to Help U. S. Ease Drain on Gold Reserves

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany told the United States today it would pay about a billion dollars in a single payment toward easing the drain on American dollar and gold reserves.

The payment proposal was made by Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard to U. S. Ambassador Walter C. Dowling. Neither would say officially what the proposal contained but informed sources said the amount would be about a billion dollars.

German Proposals
Informants said the Germans proposed to pay $587 million as prepayment of their postwar debt, which now totals $787 million.

They asked that the remaining $200 million be canceled as settlement for German assets seized in the United States during World War II, informants said.

The West Germans reportedly offered to increase arms purchases in the United States from $250 million to $350 million this year. Of this total, $250 million would be prepaid. The German offer also is reported to include a willingness to increase military orders already contracted for by $125 million, which also would be prepaid.

The Bonn government further offered to boost its share to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization infrastructure by $10 million.

Reach Accord to End Walkout

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiators today reached a tentative contract agreement to end a strike of 1,700 truck drivers and helpers that partially disrupted circulation of New York City newspapers and magazines in the metropolitan area.

The agreement is subject to ratification by the strikers, who will vote Friday at 7 p.m. The strike will continue until then.

The strikers are employees of 34 wholesale distributors who handle part of the newspaper circulation. They are members of the Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union (Ind.).

Terms for a proposed two-year contract include a $7 weekly package extended over the term of the pact.

Pre-strike pay for newspaper deliverers was $112.40 a week for day workers and $114.20 for night workers. For magazine deliverers, the day rate was $115.65 and the night rate $117.45.

Aid for Summer Schools Discussed

Bill Would Provide Help
For Children of Migrants;
Pickle Growers Oppose Plan

MADISON (AP)—The question of providing state aid to Wisconsin summer schools for children of migrant workers was debated Wednesday at a hearing of the Assembly Education Committee.

A bill to provide such aid was supported by Dr. G. Aubrey Young and Mrs. Rebecca Barton, the chairman and director of the Governor's Commission on Human Rights.

They said the state has a responsibility to educate the children of migrants.

Robert Lewis, assistant state superintendent of schools, said the main purpose of the bill was to allow districts to utilize school buildings the year round, give students a chance to make up classwork during the summer and provide gifted students with summer schooling to enrich their programs.

The bill provides that the local school board would pay 75 per cent of the cost of a summer session. It was estimated the state's share would be $65,000 a year and approximately 12,000 students would be affected.

The only opposition to the bill came from pickle growers. Boyd

Clark of Wild Rose, representing the Green Bay Food Co., said pickle growers saw the bill as the first step toward making summer school mandatory.

Clark contended that if migrant children had to attend summer school their working parents would stay out of Wisconsin and "wreck the state's food processing industry."

The committee's recommendation will come later.

The committee also heard testimony on legislation to provide state aid of 60 per cent to county supervising teachers and specialists who are recommended by the state superintendent and approved by a county board.

Seven educators testified the bill would give small schools the services of specialists in testing, guidance counseling, and speech correction which they now cannot afford.

Opposition came from the Wisconsin Association of School District Administrators who said that although specialists are needed, the bill discriminates by not providing the same aids to common and city school districts.

Proxmire Likes Leadership of Sen. Mansfield

Liberal Policies
Will Have More
Chance, Senator Says

Associated Press Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., is a lot happier with the Senate Democrats under the leadership of Sen. Mike Mansfield than he was last year when Sen. Lyndon Johnson was the party's Senate leader.

Proxmire says he likes the new setup much better—with Johnson as Vice President and Mansfield in the leadership.

Proxmire made several Senate speeches last year accusing Johnson of running a one-man show and paying little attention to individual Democratic senators.

Proxmire says that while Johnson has influence with members of the party in the Senate "it is not comparable to the power he had in the past as majority leader."

Leadership Post
Mansfield was elected by his Democratic colleagues to the leadership post when the new Congress organized.

"We have had four Democratic conferences so far this year, called by Sen. Mansfield," Proxmire said. "This compares with the one a year conferences called by Johnson from 1953 through 1959."

Proxmire said that last year, after he pushed the issue, Johnson did call an occasional conference of the Democrats. But these were not enough for Proxmire.

(On his criticism last year Proxmire asserted that Johnson was making Democratic policy in the Senate, that the Democratic Policy Committee was dominated by Johnson, and that Johnson ignored the Democratic platform in many respects.

Still Friction
The Wisconsin senator and the tall Texan get along on the surface but there still is friction between them.

Proxmire, for instance, unsuccessfully opposed a move to have Johnson invited to appear and preside over caucuses of Senate Democrats this year.

"I objected on the basis that it is an abridgement of the separation of powers," Proxmire said. "Democratic caucuses are entirely the business of Democrats in the Senate."

In spite of Proxmire's criticism of Johnson in the past, the Vice President, who presides over the Senate, recently appointed Proxmire to a vacancy on the Joint Economic Committee, a post which Proxmire really wanted.

Name Members
Since it is a joint Senate-House committee, Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn name the Democratic members of it.

Proxmire said liberal legislation will have a much better chance in Congress with President Kennedy in the White House.

"I think we can make progress," Proxmire said.

He sees good prospects for passage of measures to provide aid to economically distressed areas, aid to education, an increase in the minimum wage, medical care for the aged within the Social Security System, and housing.

Burning of American Flag Condemned by Guatemalan Ministry

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—The Foreign Ministry condemned Wednesday the burning of an American flag in this city's main intersection last Saturday.

A note to the U.S. Embassy expressed Guatemala's "sincere regrets." Police could not catch the unidentified group.

No Room Seen in Dorms For Non-Resident Girls

MADISON (AP)—There will be no room for non-resident students in women's dormitories at the University of Wisconsin next fall. University officials said Wednesday that an increase in the number of Wisconsin applicants, who are given preference, forced them to close the dormitories to non-resident students.

No decision has been reached on out-of-state applications for the men's dormitories.

Portuguese Reaction Strong Against Galvao

Humberto Delgado's Predicted Uprisings Fail to Materialize in Territories

By LOUIS NEVIN
LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Henrique Galvao's seizure of the liner Santa Maria has done the opposition to Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar great and perhaps irreparable harm, reliable political observers in the Portuguese capital say.

Reaction against those who seized the ship has been strong both in Portugal and in her overseas territories.

The government apparently feels its case is so strong it can sit back and let the United States or Brazil handle the affair.

Intervening Power
Dr. Ramiro Valadao, chief of the government's press services, told a news conference Portugal would let any intervening power handle the case under its own laws.

He said his government would not even demand extradition of Galvao and his 70 rebels, even though an officer of the ship was killed in the fray.

Thirty-nine opposition leaders saw fit a few days ago to write President Americo Thomaz divorcing themselves from the seizure, which they called an "un-ambiguously serious act."

Humberto Delgado, the unsuccessful presidential candidate in the 1958 elections who has been living in exile in Brazil, hurt his position gravely at home, observers believe, by assuming responsibility for the seizure, and even more so by publicly predicting the seizure would lead to uprisings in Portugal and her territories.

No Disorders
Not the slightest disorder of a political nature has been reported. Delgado's association with Galvao was never close in the past.

Galvao was pretty much of an extremist, both while an ardent supporter of Salazar and after going into the opposition. Delgado was considered more moderate and measured.

Their present apparently close association has surprised many here and disillusioned others.

The facts of the seizure, as published here, disgusted many. The reported international character of the Galvao men—only six Portuguese, the rest Spaniards, Cubans and persons of other nationality—gave a Communist tinge to the whole affair in the eyes of the man in the Lisbon streets.

Avidly awaiting news of the Santa Maria, lines of people buy newspapers as fast as they appear on the streets. Large crowds stand in front of newspaper offices reading the latest news as it is chalked on bulletin boards.

Portugal is a maritime nation, and when something happens to one of her ships, especially the pride of her passenger fleet, it is a personal matter to all of her citizens, whether they approve of the government or not.

Hearing on Fixing Of Prices Postponed
MADISON (AP)—A hearing on charges of price fixing and discrimination filed against three major dairy firms has been postponed by Circuit Judge Richard W. Bardwell to March 24.

The hearing against Borden's Pet Dairy Products Co., and the Pet Milk Co. was scheduled to be held Wednesday.

Main Topics Covered at Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — These are the main topics covered yesterday at President Kennedy's news conference:

Military dependents—The order to cut down the number of dependents living with servicemen overseas will be rescinded soon, with equivalent savings on U.S. dollars spent abroad made elsewhere.

Housing—The Federal Housing Administration will immediately reduce the interest rate on FHA insured home loans from 5 per cent to 4½ per cent.

Food stamps—Five pilot projects will be set up in areas of chronic unemployment for distribution of food stamps to the needy.

GI insurance—The Veterans Administration will speed up payment of more than $250 million in insurance dividends to assist the economy.

Tax cut—Kennedy said he does not favor one at this time.

Khrushchev meeting—Kennedy said he had no idea whether Khrushchev is coming to the U.N. meeting and it would be more appropriate to wait until we find out.

Civil rights—Hopes to make a statement on civil rights as soon as a study of the problem has been completed.

Pay-as-you-go—Kennedy said for every new program submitted to Congress, a source of revenue would be suggested.

Defense—He said the world situation is growing more serious and the national defense establishment must be re-examined.

Moscow Grieved Over Death of Communist Official in America

MOSCOW (AP)—The central committee of the Soviet Communist party sent condolences Wednesday to the U.S. Communist party's national committee on the death of its chairman, Eugene Dennis. Dennis, 56, died in a New York hospital Tuesday.

Nixon Vacations in Florida With Friends

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, private citizen, vacationed with friends here today and said he expects to stay until Saturday.

Nixon, who visited this area frequently while he was vice president, was cordial when a reporter found him on a golf course Wednesday but declined to discuss politics.

Nixon said he will stop briefly in Washington before returning to Los Angeles where he expects to go to work in a law office.

Uniform Accident Rule To Get Airing Before Assembly Committee

Group Delays Action on Bills To Raise Highway Speed Limits

MADISON (AP)—The Assembly Highway Committee decided Wednesday to summon supporters and opponents of a bill requiring local law enforcement agencies to submit uniform accident reporting forms to the state to a showdown hearing next week.

The measure has been strongly opposed by representatives of local Wisconsin law enforcement groups. However, two committee members said they have found "spokesmen" for these groups on both sides of the issue.

"I want to clear up why people from the same groups differ on this bill," said Assemblyman Robert Huber, D-West Allis.

Assemblyman Clifford Dorr, D-Chippewa Falls, said he attended a meeting of the Northwest Peace Officers Association and found the members do not agree with what their representatives previously had told the committee.

Set Hearing
Chairman Hugh Harper, R-Lancaster, agreed to summon members of organizations both for and against the bill to a hearing next Wednesday to clear up the issue.

The committee delayed action on two bills to raise the Wisconsin speed limit to 75 miles an hour on four lane highways for both cars and trucks.

Several safety spokesmen told the committee that the new interstate highways should have a minimum speed limit as well as a higher maximum.

"A slow poke driver is also a menace," said Lawrence Teich of Milwaukee, a spokesman for the American Automobile Association. He supported a trial 70-mile maximum in the state.

State Motor Vehicle Commissioner James Kams said if any increase is approved he favors a test five miles an hour raise in the maximum for both cars and trucks.

Mail Delivery
The committee recommended for passage a measure to prohibit hindering mail delivery by parking within 20 feet of a group of rural mail boxes.

It also recommended for passage a bill to prohibit drivers from using parking lights only while driving when visibility is poor.

Indefinitely postponed was a bill to make train crews liable to fines if a train blocks a crossing more than eight minutes.

Railroad and union representatives said such a bill would seriously hinder freight operations.

AFL-CIO Demands That Non-Union Apprentice Committee Be Banned

WAUSAU (AP) — Delegates to the State AFL-CIO Apprenticeship Conference here adopted a resolution Wednesday demanding that the Wisconsin Industrial Commission eliminate non-union apprenticeship committees in the plumbing and pipefitting industry.

The conference asked that the areas assigned to non-union committees be restored to the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry.

The delegates also adopted a resolution calling on President and Congress to support increased aids for vocational education.

BIRTH INJURIES

Birth injuries are often the cause of future serious troubles. These injuries usually affect the vertebrae of the neck. In children who do not seem to be healthy and vigorous, this may be the trouble. If such injury is suspected, early examination and adjustments are recommended.

See Possible Breakdown of Peace Efforts

Officials Reported Worried Over Congo, East-West Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kennedy administration officials were reported deeply worried today about a possible breakdown of United Nations peace efforts in the Congo and the development of a dangerous new East-West crisis there.

The threatening emergency in Africa is one of those President Kennedy evidently had in mind Wednesday when he told his news conference, in discussing U.S. military strength in relation to world problems, that "the situation grows more serious."

Kennedy said, "The Chinese Communist strength increases, the intervention by the Communists in these critical areas which I mentioned has grown greater, and therefore we have to consider whether in the light of this conditional threat, the strength we now have, not only our nuclear deterrent but also our capacity for limited war, is sufficient."

The critical areas Kennedy mentioned were Laos, Cuba and the Congo. The Communist bloc has been furnishing arms to Cuba, and the United States has charged the Soviet Union with airlifting arms to pro-Communist rebel forces in Laos.

In recent days there have been persistent reports from the Congo that the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic were delivering arms to forces backing imprisoned former Premier Patrice Lumumba against the shaky government of Premier Joseph Kasavubu.

These reports are a main source of apprehension here that the Congo civil conflict could quickly develop into an East-West struggle similar to that in Laos. Such a development would confront the United States and its allies with a decision whether to intervene directly on the side of the Kasavubu government.

Kennedy has declared his support for the U.N. efforts to restrict the Congo conflict and gradually restore peace and order. But U.N. power to deal with the situation is limited, especially in the face of the reported outside assistance to pro-Lumumba troops. U.N. forces, moreover, are threatened with serious depletion by governments which favor Lumumba and threaten to withdraw their troop contingents from the U.N. command.

"We are considering the matter of the Congo carefully," Kennedy told the news conference, "and (considering) what useful steps might be taken which would prevent a further deterioration."

It is understood that consultations on the Congo situation have been started with other Allied governments. It is also understood that Kennedy has tried to get across to Soviet Premier Khrushchev that his actions with respect to Laos, Cuba and the Congo will speak louder, so far as Washington is concerned, than his public statements in vague general terms about easing world tensions and improving relations with the United States.

13 of 135 Car Train Derailed, No Injuries

BROWNVILLE, Minn. (AP) — Thirteen cars of a 135-car Milwaukee railroad freight train left the tracks on a branch line near Brownsville, in southeastern Minnesota Wednesday.

Railroad officials said 300 feet of track were ripped up and that traffic would be held up at least until today. No passenger trains use the line.

The freight was enroute from St. Paul to Chicago. There were no injuries. Cause of the wreck was not immediately determined.

Elk Ruler to Speak

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Judge John E. Fenton of Lawrence, Mass., grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be the principal speaker at the midwinter meeting of the Wisconsin Elks Association in Milwaukee Saturday, it was announced today.

Key Quotes Repeated After Kennedy's News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are key quotations from President Kennedy's news conference Wednesday:

"The restrictions recently imposed on travel abroad of dependents of service personnel will be lifted as soon as the necessary detailed arrangement can be made."

"There are going to be set up five pilot projects for food stamp distribution . . . These will be in areas of maximum, chronic unemployment."

"The Veterans Administration has been instructed to speed up the payment of the national insurance dividends. We are going to try to pay it out this winter in order to assist the economy at a critical time."

"In order to lower the cost of housing credit and stimulate that sector of the economy, I have directed the Federal Housing Administration to reduce the maximum permissible interest on FHA-insured loans from 5 to 3 1/2 per cent."

"I have no idea whether Mr. Khrushchev is coming to the United States . . . Therefore, I think it would be appropriate to wait in regard to what plans we might have in our seeing him."

"If a well known high ranking military figure makes a speech, I think that the people and the countries abroad have a right to expect that that speech represents the opinion of the national government."

"I have not proposed a tax cut at this time nor do I intend to."

"Proposals that we will make will not, of themselves, unbalance the budget."

"I think the (foreign) situation is less satisfactory than it was last fall."

"We will, with every program we send (to Congress), suggest a source of revenue."

"The unemployment compensa-

Kennedy Sees No Normal Relations With Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy says that as long as Red China holds American prisoners "it will be extremely difficult to have any kind of normal relations with the Chinese Communists."

Kennedy was asked at his news conference Wednesday if new efforts are to be made on behalf of five Americans imprisoned in China and six who have been sentenced to 30 years in prison in Cuba.

Kennedy said "I want to make it very clear that we are concerned about those men in China."

There are other matters affecting relations with Communist China, he said, but the imprisonment of Americans "is certainly a point of the greatest possible concern."

He said, "We have asked for a delay in the meetings which take place in Warsaw between the Chinese Communists, from February to March, because they have become merely a matter of form and nothing of substance happens."

As to those imprisoned in Cuba, Kennedy said, "We are going to attempt, within the limits imposed by the nature of the regime in Cuba, to protect the interests of American citizens who are there."

Reynolds Will Break Into Probe of Rail Rates for Coal

MADISON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Reynolds plans to intervene in an investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of railroad rates for transporting coal from Kentucky to Sheboygan, Wis.

Reynolds said that the Illinois Central, the North Western Railway and the Belt Railway Co., Chicago, are involved in the ICC investigation. He added that the Great Lakes Ship Owners Association has asked establishment of joint rail-water rates from Kentucky mines to Sheboygan on an equitable basis with the all rail rates now under investigation.

The attorney general said Sheboygan coal companies have

Kennedy Looking Out To Second Office Term

President Appears to be Finding Job Tougher Than He Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy appears to be finding his job a little tougher than even he expected. But he already seems to be looking ahead to a second term.

The new president was asked at his news conference yesterday if he had encountered any particular problem that he had not anticipated.

With a wry grin he echoed the complaint of many of his predecessors when he said it is a difficult problem to translate into action in the field the decisions he makes in Washington, even when they involve national security.

Dark Picture

"It is easier to sit with a map and talk about what ought to be done than to see it done, but that is perhaps inevitable," he said.

Without ever quite putting it into as many words, Kennedy gave every sign that he expects to bid for reelection in 1964.

In the course of justifying the dark picture he painted of the nation's economy in his state-of-the-union message, Kennedy denied that politics was involved. He said it wasn't true — as some Republicans suggested — that he made things appear worse than they are so that he could cash in politically on any early business upturn.

"I am not a candidate for office for at least four years," he said. "So there will be many ups and downs, I suppose, during that period. So anybody who thinks that if things get better in the spring we will be able to say that they are the result of the administration's policy and that is the reason I painted them unnecessarily dark misunderstands completely."

Would Debate

At another point he declined to be labeled as any particular kind of Democrat, he said he was "a Democrat who has been elected president of the United States."

Kennedy had a surprise for the reporters and for his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, in another answer.

A reporter noted that his brother had said after the election he doubted Kennedy would advertise his 1964 Republican opponent by debating him on the air. If he were a candidate would he agree to debate?

"I would, yes," the president replied without hesitation.

Retail Grocers May be Active In Legislature

Association Seems Likely to Ask for Slice of Receipts

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Independent retail food dealers of the state have been alerted to legislative developments affecting their enterprises.

The Wisconsin Independent Retail Grocers Association will take an active part in the deliberations of the new legislative session, reports Lester Daron, Association executive and chief lobbyist of the retailers.

Daron is telling legislators that if the widely discussed sales tax is adopted in Wisconsin, the Association will insist that merchants who will be the tax collectors for the state be permitted some remuneration for their collection work, presumably in the way of a slice of the tax receipts.

The grocers will again demand that the legislature repeal what they call the discriminatory 15 cents a pound tax on margarine sold in the state, noting that the vast bulk of Wisconsin dairy products are marketed outside the state and that the original move of protecting the butter market through such a tax is no longer valid.

Trading Stamps

Daron has indicated that he will also protest the campaign of the trading stamp companies to liberalize the Wisconsin law by permitting redemption of the merchandise stamps in merchandise, as well as in cash. Present law prohibits merchandise redemption. The grocers are worried that the redemption centers may become competitive trade outlets.

The Association is also actively backing bills prepared by the Legislative Council, with the support of the office of the state attorney general, to strengthen the unfair trade practices law. Heart of the chief proposal is to change the test for unlawful discrimination in selling from "intent" to lessen competition to "effect."

Inmate Total Nears Peak

State Reformatory
Population Close
To All-Time Record

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Swelling populations at the male correctional institutions operated by the state department of public welfare are worrying its officers.

The inmate total at the state reformatory near Green Bay is nearing the all-time peak. Welfare Director Wilbur Schmidt reported today, with all indications that the trend for a higher rate of admissions will continue.

The reformatory now has a total load of 1035, including about 900 incarcerated at the main institution. All of its farm and other camps are filled to capacity, it was said.

Cots in Corridors

Because other institutions are also operating at or near capacity, future admissions at the reformatory may require the repetition of such emergency arrangements as the placing of sleeping cots in the cell block corridors, Schmidt said.

The load of young inmates at the reformatory has been rising in spite of the provision of more accommodations through the state industrial school for boys in Wausau during the last year. A former state tuberculosis sanatorium at near-by Wausau in Wausau County has been converted for use as a boys' school annex and now has about 200 inmates. The institution proper at Wausau also has a relatively high load of 330 boys and young men.

The only promise of space relief for the male offenders is in the completion of the new medium security prison first unit at Fox Lake, now under construction.

But Sanger Powers, head of the state corrections division, says that April of 1962 is the most optimistic date for the completion of that institution. The first unit will be planned for about 130 men. Financing of later units has not yet been assured.

Live Conferences End Temporarily

Video Tape Broadcasts in Evening Hours Encouraged

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The White House policy of authorizing live television and radio broadcast of all President Kennedy's news conferences is being altered — apparently in the hope of assuring him larger audiences.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said last night the President's next session with newsmen — probably next week — won't be carried live by the TV and radio networks as his first two conferences were.

But Salinger added after the second conference held late yesterday afternoon that "by no means" is the live format being abandoned altogether.

"In fact," he said, "the networks have been told that we plan to resume live broadcasts."

The press secretary said further: "At the moment, the plan is to depart from live broadcasting only for the next presidential conference. We are still feeling our way in this whole field — we are still experimenting."

Video Tape Allowed
Salinger labeled as silly a published report that the White House is veering temporarily away from live broadcasts to avoid over-exposure of Kennedy to the public. Salinger said there is nothing to that because at the next news conference the TV networks will be authorized to make video tape recordings of the entire session — and go on the air with them as soon as the session ends, if they want to.

But the next conference is scheduled to be held at a mid-morning hour, and the White House apparently hopes the networks will delay use of the tapes until an evening hour — when the audience can be expected to be considerably larger. The same hope applies to radio recordings. Yesterday's conference, which lasted almost 40 minutes, started at 3 p.m. CST. At that time of day the radio and TV audience is made up mostly of housewives and children — and many other sets aren't turned on.

ABC Concedes
In advance of Kennedy's first news conference as President Jan. 25, Salinger announced the networks were free to carry any and all of the sessions live. He also said the American Broadcasting Co. had informed him it planned to broadcast live all of the conferences through February. "We have asked ABC to withdraw these plans and the network has agreed," Salinger said last night.

"As I said, we are still experimenting," Salinger added. "We want to sit back and take a good look at the whole situation."

Salinger noted that his original proposal to the networks, made last November shortly after the election, was that they carry presidential news conferences live occasionally, at an evening hour. The first Kennedy session, last week, started at 5 p.m., CST.

The networks all expressed interest in the Salinger plan, but also asked for permission to carry the daytime conferences live. This was granted, but the White House — after consultation with the networks — has modified this blank check authorization at least for the time being.

Salinger said he doesn't want to be pinned down to a commitment that live coverage of Kennedy's fourth news conference will be permitted.

"We'll decide that after the third one," he said.

determination to protect the value of the dollar." He added, "It is the judgment of the Defense Department that other savings can be made which will be more satisfactory to us" and at the same time maintain morale in the armed forces.

No Tax Cut

At the conference which drew 380 newsmen as compared with 418 at Kennedy's first, the predominant theme was the President's expressed conviction — stated first in his inaugural address and then in his State of the Union message — that at home and abroad things are going to get worse before they get better.

But he did say that things on the home front aren't bad enough to justify a tax cut at this time in an effort to improve business conditions.

Kennedy added, however, that he will take another look at the situation in two or three months and determine then "what action can be usefully taken."

Accurate Picture

As for whether he had painted a somber picture of international and domestic conditions so he later could claim credit for any improvement, Kennedy replied evenly: "They are painted accurately as I understand them to be, and anyone who makes the judgment that it was laid on thick for political reasons is making a serious mistake. I hope they would give us the benefit of the doubt of an honest view."

Kennedy's first remark at the conference was that he and his wife had received more than 100,000 congratulatory messages since the election, the birth of their son, John Jr., last Nov. 25, and the inauguration. He said it won't be possible to reply to all the messages so he and Mrs. Kennedy were taking this means of expressing their gratitude.

Other Comment

The session dealt with these other matters:

Airmen — The President would be glad to have newsmen interview two Air Force fliers freed last by the Soviets — after the Air Force has completed talks with them. Interviews have been banned to this point on the ground they might newly strain Soviet-American relations.

Speech Clearance — Kennedy defended his administration's policy of insisting that speeches by military or other government officials on national security matters be in line with White House views. He said this also was a policy of the Eisenhower regime, and that "the people and the countries abroad have a right to expect that (such) speeches represent the opinion of the national government."

Possible Conferences

Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle. Replying to a question, the President said any announcement regarding such visits always must be timed after consultation with the countries involved.

Civil Rights — He is considering, Kennedy said, what steps he can take on his own authority — without enactment of new legislation — in the field of civil rights. He hopes the study will be concluded shortly.

Living Costs — "In all of the programs that we will put forward," Kennedy said, "we will pay due care to the problem of preventing any stimulation of the economy resulting in an excessive increase in the cost of living."

Berlin Situation
Berlin — The new administration regards the Communist threat to Berlin as a serious matter, just as the Eisenhower regime did.

Farm — Within the next week legislation dealing with feed grains will go to Congress. By the end of the month legislation on the wheat surplus problem will be offered. Kennedy declined to provide any detail.

Outlook — Had he found the world situation very much worse on taking office than he had anticipated? "I think," Kennedy replied, "the situation is less satisfactory than it was last fall." As examples, he cited developments in Laos, Cuba and the Congo.

Revenue — He will ask Congress for the same new revenues the Eisenhower administration did in budgeting for the fiscal year starting July 1, Kennedy said. But he noted that Congress always has been reluctant to vote such things as the higher postal rates the old regime requested.

Prisoners of Reds

Prisoners — As for the six Americans sentenced to 30 years imprisonment in Cuba, "we are going to attempt to protect the interests of American citizens who are there." And the possibility of winning release of five Americans jailed for more than six years in Communist China is "a point of the greatest possible concern" to the new administration.

Kennedy shattered tradition by taking time to respond to a woman reporter's question after the formal end of the news conference. Put by Sarah McClendon, representing Texas and New England newspapers, the question was whether Kennedy planned any steps to assure that statements by Adlai E. Stevenson, ambassador to the United Nations, coincided with his own on Red China. The President said he hopes there will be future coordination, but added he wasn't criticizing Stevenson.

During the news conference Kennedy made no direct reply to a question on whether Stevenson was right in "guessing" the President would be happy to meet with Soviet Premier Khrushchev if the Kremlin leader goes to New York for the U.N. General Assembly meeting.

"I think it would be more appropriate to wait until we have some idea whether he is going to come or not," Kennedy said.

Seats From Burlesque Theater May be Used As Pews in Churches

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The seats in the Gaiety Theater, which have rocked to the applause of thousands of burlesque patrons, may be used as church pews.

L. T. Rodgers, a contractor who bought the seats for $800.14 at a public auction Wednesday, said three churches have indicated interest in buying the seats.

The Gaiety, which closed its doors after Tuesday night's performance, will be demolished as part of Norfolk's downtown urban renewal program.

30 Years of Rotarian Bon Mots Equivalent of About 18 Novels

By CHARLES HUGHES
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

GREEN BAY — This week when Karl Feldhausen sits down to write his weekly bulletin for the Green Bay Rotary Club, he will be completing his 63rd issue of the Rotatier which he has written and edited for nearly 30 years.

It will amount to something like a total of 600,000 words, the first of which was scribbled one day in 1931 when this "Mr. Rotary of Green Bay" was elected secretary of the club and editor of its weekly bulletin.

The 600,000-plus words produced to date by Feldhausen is the equivalent of about 18 full-sized novels. They would have been written without pause, for not once in the 29 years of his tour of duty for the local Rotary has Mr. Feldhausen failed to meet his deadline. The 1,633rd issue will be the 1,633rd consecutive one to come out of the Feldhausen Insurance Agency where he does most of his administrative work for the local service club.

Into each book would have been written a certain amount of humor and philosophy, and the trend of them over the years would be an adequate sidelight upon the history of the period.

"His jokes, bon mots and 'quips' as he calls them, often fit into the mosaic of the times and a historian might find many a sidelight which would reflect an act as well as the thinking and the humor of the period.

Post-War Prodding

In one well-remembered post-war period, the Feldhausen philosophy peeked through in one of his quips when he suggested that war with Russia might occur if Stalin commented on the singing of Margaret Truman.

Mostly, however, the Feldhausen varieties of humor are based on quiet common sense, like the following verse which appeared in the Rotatier in 1941:

I seldom notice book-ends much
Although, of course, I've seen them;
They are like ears but what really counts
Is what is in between them.

Feldhausen prefers the philosophical quip to the space-consuming joke, but he sprinkled them about over the years "if the story is good enough and the space is sufficient."

One such was a story about a Rotarian who lumped painfully into a tavern and met a friend there. The friend was surprised at the apparently painful condition of the Rotarian, and he asked about it.

"Oh," said the Rotarian,

"I've had a terrible attack of years."

"For Pete's sake," said the friend, "What's yours?"
The fellow brightened and said,

"I'll have whiskey, thanks."

A war-time jest went like this:

German mother: "Remember, Fritz, when you are saying your prayers, say 'Thank God and thank Herr Hitler.'"

Fritz: "What shall I say if Hitler dies?"

More Bon Mots

Other Feldhausen bon mots which have been published over the years in his beloved Rotatier:

"Some folks who have famous ancestors act like they did it."

"Since the discovery of elastic, it is estimated that women take up one-third less space."

"Some people think they are worth a lot of money simply because they have it."

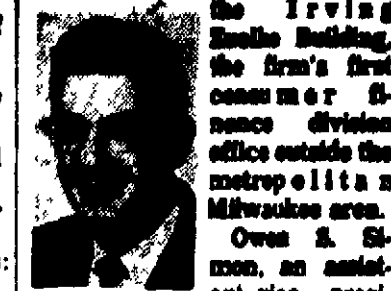

"Said Julius Caesar when he first saw Cleopatra: 'Wow! What a perfect XXXVI, XXIII, XXXVIII!'"

"Said the sweet young graduate as she reached for her teaching certificate: 'I intend to teach from here to maternity.'"

"One of the things we have nev-

Mortgage Associates, Inc., Wisconsin's largest mortgage building firm, has opened an office in the Irving the Irving Building, the firm's first consumer finance division office outside the metropolitan Milwaukee area. Owen S. Simon, an assistant vice president of Mortgage Associates, will manage the new office. It will be operated separately from the company's Appleton branch office, also in the Irving Building, managed by Robert A. Ducat.

The new office will offer personal loans, home improvement and modernization loans, auto loans and appliance loans. William W. Bunge, company chairman and president, said.

Mortgage Associates showed a mortgage loan volume up 47.6 percent in 1960 over 1959. The company operates headquarters and branch offices in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois and Missouri.

"No government can long exist with half of the people supporting it and the other half holding it up."

"Remember, even tombstones say good things about a man when he's down."

The Rotary's bulletins, with carefully kept records of that service club, are all filed neatly in a cabinet at Feldhausen's office. For each year, there is a large book complete with correspondence and the details of the life of the Green Bay Rotary since the inception of Feldhausen as secretary.

Although the local group was formed on March 1, 1917, there are no records until Feldhausen joined the club in 1931 and became its secretary the following year—and every year thereafter. When he joined, the local club had a membership of 44 members but that number has grown to 121—largely through the loyal, continued efforts of this Rotarian.

Aid to China?

Officials in Red China have admitted that starvation faces thousands, perhaps millions, of Chinese this year due to what the government calls unfortunate natural catastrophes and what also may be a good quantity of bureaucratic bungling. Now there is talk in Washington of sending our vast food surpluses to feed these victims of a Communist regime.

The proposal has been suggested on two grounds, the humanitarian and the strategic. There can be little argument with the first. But the second offers a confused smattering of myth and mistaken assumptions. There is nothing in past history to indicate that feeding people who are our enemies by the nature and aims of their government will lead to more peaceful relations.

After the Bolshevik revolution, the Hoover mission supplied food to approximately 10 million people in Russia. Our lend-lease program during World War II included food as well as arms and machinery. But any gratitude was quickly forgotten when Stalin and later Khrushchev began their anti-American bombasts. Our teams of rescue workers and missionaries saved the lives of thousands during Japan's dreadful earthquake in 1923. But it didn't influence what happened at Pearl Harbor or the hideous treatment of American prisoners of war. There has been no sign that our extensive foreign aid programs to the underdeveloped nations has led them to take our side in United Nations debates. India, for instance, one of the more responsible of the new nations, has been the recipient of billions from the United States, including famine preventing shipments of wheat in the last two years. But in the last session of the General Assembly India voted with Russia 50 times and with the U. S. 6 times.

The new state department team in Washington is reportedly studying the entire foreign aid program particularly to aim it specifically at improving diplomatic relations as well as assisting underdeveloped nations toward security and stability. If this is true there can be no nonsense about aid to China helping out the relations between the two countries.

In a country under totalitarian rule black can be made to appear white with a stroke of the pen. Thus, our proffered aid might be turned down by the Red regime as an effort to buy the Chinese people who would be assured that they were strong enough to resist. Or it could be accepted with little publicity with the result that most of the Chinese peasants would believe that the largess came from their own kind masters. It would most assuredly take the Peiping government off the hook for a while and enable it to use its talents and resources toward extending Red beliefs and power around the world. Even if the Chinese people learned that they had been saved from starvation by the United States of America it would not affect their war effort. People under a tyrannical all-powerful government fight when they are told if they want to have a chance to live at all. Only the strongest of personal attachments could intervene.

There might be some amount of impression made upon the neutral nations of the world as to our feeding our enemies. But we suspect it would be as much of jealousy as of praise. After all there are starving people in many nations. Why, they would ask, didn't they get the food? It may be advantageous to go to war against the United States and lose as has been facetiously pointed out. Perhaps it is more in one's own interest to oppose the United States and then announce a pressing need.

All these detracting issues may not be enough to weigh against the simple matter of saving innocent children from starving to death. But let us recognize the dangers of such action to the children around the world including the United States. Somehow it does not seem to be the constitutional responsibility of the United States government to help to build up our enemies for a future conflict.

As President Kennedy has pointed out there is no reason for the United States to ship food to China while that nation is exporting food for political purposes to Cuba and elsewhere. But in any case let us not plan to feed the Chinese as a way to win them back to democracy and friendship. We know that is nonsense.

International Law at Sea

Now that Brazil has agreed to allow the captured cruise ship Santa Maria to come into port the status of the ship and the men in control remains to be solved.

Naturally the government of Portugal is incensed because the world has not immediately agreed that this was an act of piracy. After all, armed men took over the ship, killed one man and maintained control by force of arms. Piracy has been recognized for decades as a scourge of the sea which every nation is honor bound to help eradicate.

But the rebels on board the Santa Maria insisted they were not pirates. "We are Portuguese politicians, fighting for the liberty of our homeland, and we are not and will not be confused with pirates," said the leader of the insurgents, Henrique Galvao. Their attitude is that this is only the first move to take over the government of Portugal from a dictator and that the Santa Maria is captured Portuguese territory.

From Portugal comes almost a recognition that this is really rebellion. "Galvao's machine guns, false passports and grenades were paid for with Communist funds. Portugal's allies have got to face squarely up to the international implications of the situation. The great powers cannot wash their hands of the affair like Pontius Pilate."

Much of the confusion, particularly for the United States and some of the anti-colonial nations, is that Portugal is run by a dictatorship if a reasonably benevolent one. The contention of the rebels is that the real president of Portugal, duly elected but cheated by a rigged count, is Gen. Humberto da Silva Delgado, now in exile in Brazil. A considerable number of Portuguese exiles now live in England and have inaugurated a propaganda campaign against the government of President Salazar.

There are reportedly four extensive organizations in Brazil.

One Englishman has pointed out two precedents for not regarding the insurgents as pirates. Both deal with our Civil War. Confederate sympathizers took over Union ships, were captured and then escaped, one group to Canada, another to England. When the United States demanded they be returned as pirates, Great Britain refused since she had recognized a state of belligerency in this country. No such official action has been taken regarding Portugal but regarding the rebels as such is, in itself, a recognition.

The whole Santa Maria affair is clouded because no one knows exactly how stringent affairs are in Portugal which recently was criticized in the United Nations for its colonial policies, or how much involved are the Communists who are willing to exploit rebellion anywhere. But freedom of the seas cannot rest upon degree of dictatorship either. It appears that after all these years of attempts to establish international law, particularly in international waters, the matter still is to be settled by the country which is strong enough to maintain its point of view.

As usual the United States is caught between ideological and practical viewpoints. There are ties reported between the rebels and anti-Franco forces who want to take over Spain. On the one hand, we oppose right-wing dictators; on the other we don't want to do any more toward instituting a pro-Communist regime. And beyond all this is the clear knowledge that one form of dictatorship breeds another.

As John Foster Dulles pointed out years ago, it is difficult to draw clear lines between domestic and foreign issues. Our government's attitude toward something that happened several thousand miles from Portugal is of great influence in Portugal itself.

Mr. Murrow and the USIA

The appointment of Edward R. Murrow as head of the United States Information Agency should be an interesting experiment.

Mr. Murrow, through his TV series, has shown himself adept at "interpretive" programs called by some as essential to understanding of affairs by the ordinary viewer, by others as merely slanted propaganda. The USIA, the main purpose of which is to convince the rest of the world that our intentions are honorable, could probably use a good dose of this type of program.

Naturally we do not know in what a state our relations with other countries would be without the USIA. But we do know it has not brought all the benefits promised by it through the years. It has not seemed to make friends for us, influence anybody much, or even get all the news right.

Maybe Mr. Murrow can change all that. First he has to be convinced that the United States is worth talking about around the world. We hope he doesn't just rely on his old scripts.

Once a Bane, Meters Now Help Drivers

From The Dispatch

The parking meter, once the bane of the city driver, visitor and resident alike, has become popular. "Americans not only are accustomed to parking and ers, they are downright pleased with them," reports the American Municipal Association, as the result of a national survey.

Approximately two million meters in 3,850 U.S. cities and towns, the study reveals, produce $227 million of municipal revenue a year at the current rate, and installations are increasing.

It was also discovered that parking limit enforcement by me'er maids is growing rapidly in use. From a small start a few years ago, the practice has spread to more than one city out of every three and is gaining new converts steadily.

Put a man behind a wheel and he gains in stubbornness and unreasonableness; but even the American motorist, it appears, is discovering that parking meters and their pretty maids are put there for the motorists' own good.

Says Appleton Policemen Receive Less Than Unskilled City Laborers

Editor, People's Forum:

Something has been bothering me for quite some time now, so I finally decided to write to you about it in the hope that through you others might come to know of, and may be interested in, something that is of concern to all of us who live in Appleton. It is our Police Department. It is its pay scale, working conditions and what is expected for what is paid, which I might add is not very much. Depending on which side you are looking at it from, the department is either a godsend or a nuisance, but we must all agree that without it things would be in rough shape. We expect the police to perform many services, from being able to administer first aid or deliver a baby, right on, up to, and including giving their lives—and this is all considered in the line of duty. And yet, when it comes to pay, they receive one of the lowest salaries in the city.

Besides this they must purchase their own uniforms. In Appleton, however, they do receive clothing allowance of $75. Since a winter jacket alone may cost that much, you can see it cannot go very far. The Appleton city policeman has a starting pay of $350 a month, and this can increase to $385 in the course of three years! This is an annual increase of $15, which, incidentally has just been put into effect this year. This pay is for a work week of 40 hours. Add to this the fact that there are no provisions for special training other than what the men undertake themselves, on their own time, at their own expense.

By comparison, the city of Appleton pays a minimum wage of $2.32 an hour unskilled labor. This fact is taken from the Nov. 10, 1960, Post-Crescent. What our Police Department does can hardly be called unskilled labor, and yet they do not even receive unskilled laborers pay.

These men are even required, in many cases, to join car pools due to the fact that there is not even sufficient parking available.

Almost without exception, the men on the police force are required to hold more than one extra job. This is just to make a livable wage.

Paywise, the Appleton City Police Department doesn't hold very much for a man, wouldn't you say? Why can't something be done about this situation?

Mark L. Laux
P.S. I'm not connected with the Police Department in any way.

Help for Sampson Defended

Editor, Post-Crescent:

A letter such as the one in Tuesday's Post-Crescent cries for an answer, if not for the sake of defending Tom Sampson (who no doubt needs no defending) then at least for the purpose of seconding the efforts of all those who were moved to help another in a time of need. Is it important or a necessary requisite that a man be a responsible citizen or that he contribute something to society before he merits the free gifts of kindness and concern that others are capable of giving to him?

It is embarrassing to read the arguments that were advanced by the writer of the letter: (1) Tom Sampson deserves no kindness since he has done nothing for and is important to no one (save One Who has died for him), (2) there are other unfortunate in the jail so why help this one ("for you have the poor always with you"), and (3) why work if someone will take care of you (it's only our freedom that's at stake). Could it be

War Atmosphere Looms Larger

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Feb. 2, 1961.

A bill will be reported to Congress making it the duty of the President to call out the militia for the purpose of the suppression of insurrection.

Orders have been issued to captains of revenue cutters, by the War Department, not to surrender their vessels to the Rebels, but to defend them to the last, and, if overpowered, blow them up.

The House Select Committee is said to have positive information of the existence of a conspiracy against the government in the city of Washington. Prominent officials and citizens are implicated. Troops are being concentrated in Washington in such great numbers that it is almost impossible to furnish quarters for them.

President Roosevelt's request for a $2,900,178.375 appropriation to meet bonus payment costs—a formal business letter which did not mention taxes—was made public by Speaker Byrnes.

A tax bill to finance the new farm program was projected by the administration coincident with the formal report to the senate of the soil conservation subsidy plan.

Because the teacher, Miss Joyce Carter, had taught the Country-side school, Town of Bovina, had been closed temporarily. F. P. Young, county superintendent of schools, reported.

Mrs. George Brown was chosen captain of the January circle of Methodist Social Union. A. Hennig, cashier of the First National Bank of Menasha, was elected president of the Twin City Clearing House Association. Frank Pantratz, cashier of the Bank of Menasha, was elected vice president.

Legislators Aware Of Traffic Problem

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — There are signs that the 1961 legislature may be moved to do something to counteract the grimly slaughter rate on the public highways of Wisconsin.

Legislative opinion has not yet crystallized on a specific course of action, but there is a significant volume of private discussion among members and a reassuringly heavy rate of visiting by the lawmakers with such men as Motor Vehicle that the anonymous writer was embarrassed also?

Feels Charlie Right About Milwaukee

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In response to a letter written within the last two weeks concerning Charlie House:

I lived in Milwaukee for 10 years during World War 2, and never a week went by without typical remarks of Milwaukee talk. After living in Appleton for nine years, my husband and I still laugh at each other as some of these remarks keep "coming out" without either of us realizing it.

And now to call the attention of Mrs. Greene, you really had your ears stuffed with cotton or led a very sheltered life if you missed these remarks:

"Punch the long, mister, I'm going to City Hall." "Put me in a sack for five cents of kiss candy." Here is one my husband heard: "I didn't yesterday feel so good, so I laid the biggest part of me in bed all day."

Many nights, I took a street car home from work and girls of high school age sat in back of me. Their use of the English language was really something to hear and more than once I turned around to see what they looked like. I graduated from a small town high school in Wisconsin and never heard such English. These remarks included "I'm going by Ma's tonight," "Make off the faucet" and "Out on the light." This one I heard many times until I was using it myself until my husband teased me so much about it, I decided to drop it.

All I can say to Mrs. Greene is if she didn't get in on at least a little bit of the Milwaukee talk in nine years she sure "missed the boat." I've been nine years trying to get it out of my system.

Mrs. D. C. Wagner
2219 N. Superior
Appleton

Commissioner James L. Kern and Dan Schmitt, the chief of the highway safety section of the motor vehicle department. The motor vehicle department officers are worried, too, as would anyone who is responsible for law enforcement in this field and finds that in spite of the maximum application of present laws, the number of persons killed annually is growing and the losses in property mount into hundreds of millions of dollars.

But the department has been spurred so often in recent legislative sessions that it decided this year not to initiate much legislation. It has said in effect that the facts of the problem are visible to any one who is interested, and that the initiative ought to be taken by the elected policymakers of the state such as the governor, the lieutenant governor, and the senators and assemblymen.

THEY MIGHT

It doesn't require much imagination, for anyone who travels the highways and worries about the risks undertaken thereby, to know what direction new legislation will take — if the legislature decides that a more drastic program of safety enforcement is required.

What is manifestly needed is a more restrictive regulation of the rights and duties of automobile operators, tougher penalty laws, and more intensive field enforcement.

According to present legislative temper, more punitive measures to deal with the drunken driver, more discipline of the problem driver who has had frequent accident reports in his record, more restrictions upon the very young driver who is shown statistically to be one of the chief problems in the safety program, and an intensification of enforcement are among the probable needs.

Each of these, of course, poses some difficulties, including political difficulties. Each of them would require more expenditure, at a time when the task of finding money for ordinary requirements is challenging enough. One might guess, however, that the revocation of the permits of more of the dangerous operators, including those apprehended for drinking while driving, would be welcomed by the vast majority of law-abiding citizens, and wouldn't cost much in budget dollar terms. It goes without saying that the insurance underwriters would welcome any legislation that would strike at the high accident record of the juvenile operators.

ENFORCEMENT

The state traffic patrol is putting out press releases with the flat declaration that more enforcement manpower can cut the accident and death rate on the roads.

As a guess, nobody with any thoughtful appreciation of the realities in the safety field would be disposed to challenge that statement.

But it really begs the question, because the legislature knows that there is a need for coordinating the work of the state and the county patrols, and it has been utterly unable thus far to figure out a way to achieve such a coalition of their forces on an effective basis.

A logical conclusion might be that an efficiently disposed system of field law enforcement requires a central command of a unified constabulary.

But the power and the influence of the sheriffs and their deputies and the county traffic police departments are great.

There lies the dilemma. The legislature does not dare to force their fusion. And while they remain apart, rivals, competitors and wary enemies, there isn't likely to be much public sympathy for enlargement of the state enforcement arm.

New Books Cover Science, Culture

Lee, Chevalier Among Authors Featured at Three Area Libraries

Advances in science and culture in this country are emphasized in new non-fiction selections at Fox Cities area libraries.

Scientific development is featured in two books at the Elsie D. Smith Public Library in Menasha. They are "Saturday Science" by Westinghouse research laboratory scientists and "Science—Chemistry, Physics, Astronomy," a Doubleday publication.

Culture, the topic of "The World of Carnegie Hall" by Richard Schickel at the Neenah Public Library and "Arts of the United States," edited by William H. Pierson Jr. and Martha Davidson, at Appleton Public Library. The latter is a pictorial survey with more than 4,000 pictures.

Other featured non-fiction at the Appleton library includes "Marxism: the View from America" by Clinton Rossiter; "Subsunk: the Story of Submarine Escape" by Capt. W. O. Shelford, a retired captain in the Royal Navy; "Times Three," a collection of Phyllis McGinley's poetry and "The Folk Songs of North America" by Alan Lomax, with the words, music and origins of more than 300 folk songs.

Featured Biographies
Biography featured at the Neenah library include "Dick Bong, Ace of Aces" by Gen. George C. Kenney; "Silhouette in Diamonds," the life of socialite Mrs. Potter Palmer by Isabel Ross and "With Love," the autobiography of Maurice Chevalier. Other new non-fiction includes "Arsenic and Red Tape," studies of bureaucracy in government and business by Edward Love, and "The Classics Reclassified," parodies by Richard Armour.

Other new non-fiction selections at the Menasha library include "Wild Animals of North America" published by the National Geographic Society, James Beard's "Treasury of Outdoor Cooking," "The Wonders of Life on Earth," a Life magazine publication, and "The Great Travelers" edited by Milton Ruoff, a two-volume collection of narratives or wanderers and explorers.

"Summer of Pride," a novel by Elizabeth Savage, and "The Late Unlamented," a Crime Club selection by Harry Carmichael, are among the new fiction featured at both Appleton and Neenah libraries.

Appleton Fiction
Other featured fiction selections in Appleton are "Madame Goldenflower" by C. Y. Lee, author of "The Flower Drum Song," and "A Decade of Fantasy and Science Fiction," selected by Robert P. Mills, a collection of 25 of the best stories in The Magazine of Fantasy and Science Fiction, including such authors as Graham Greene, John Masefield and Ogden Nash.

New fiction at the Neenah library includes "The Secret of the Kingdom" by Mika Waltari, "Epidemic!" by Frank Slaughter and mysteries "A Stranger in My Grave" by Margaret Millar and "The Steps to Murder" by Rufus King.

Menasha library fiction features "A Time to Marry" by David Delman and "Road through the Woods" by Pamela Frankau, a psychological novel set in Ireland. Mysteries include "Murder at Auction" by Elizabeth Beatty.

Kaukauna, Kimberly
Three recent best sellers are featured among the new non-fiction at the Kimberly and Kaukauna libraries. "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" by William L. Shirer, covering a period of German history and "The American Heritage," by Bruce Catton, a picture history of the Civil War, are available at Kimberly Public Library.

"The best-seller, 'The White Nile,' by Alan Moorehead, is featured among new non-fiction volumes at Kaukauna Public Library. Other new non-fiction includes 'The Pacificers' by Mack Hanan, 'People!' by William Vogt, 'A Handbook of TV Troubles' by Sol Heller, 'People and Policies — a World Travelogue' by Frank Howley.

"Epidemic" is a new fiction selection at both libraries. Other featured fiction at the Kimberly library is the best seller "A Sense of Values" by Sloan Wilson, "Pomp and Circumstance" by Noel Coward and "Wisconsin in their Bones" by August Derleth.

Other fiction at the Kaukauna Library includes "Fate Is the Hunter" by Ernest Cam, "Man from Mount Vernon" by Burke Boyce, "The Berlin Couriers" by James McGovern and "The Trial Begins" by Abram Tertz.

Successful Reading Must Have Aim, Organization

BY LESLIE J. NASON, M.D. with HARRY KARN

The secret of successful reading lies not merely in repetition. Successful reading must have aim and organization. We teach on that once before. Let's go a bit further and look at some helpful ways of reading in various fields of study.

Since the formula that works for reading about one subject does not always work in reading about another, we will discuss groups of subjects separately.

Books on economics and related courses scare most students stiff, so let's talk about that area first.

Let's suppose you have been assigned a chapter for tomorrow's class. Follow these steps: 1. Pick up the book. Break it open to the table of contents. Find the chapter and turn to it. 2. Skim. Read the first paragraph. Leaf through and glance at subtitles. Read the concluding paragraph. This should give you an idea of the big idea of the chapter.

3. With this idea in mind, read the chapter. At the end of each paragraph or two pause and ask yourself:

"What was said?" "How does it fit in the general pattern?"

If you can't answer these questions, it means that you went through the process of reading words without absorbing the ideas. Speed up your reading of the remaining paragraphs, remembering an axiom mentioned previously—that speed and accuracy go together. When you get to the point where you can recite back the main idea of the paragraph you have just read, you have reached an efficient speed. Maintain that speed.

4. Finish the chapter, then re-read it with the aim of refining the material. Read now with the continuous question in mind: "Exactly what is said here?"

Make an Outline

Get the precise meaning. Relate it to some part of the big idea. This is the REAL key to success in the study of economics, marketing, and related subjects.

Make some sort of outline, in your own words, of what you have learned so you can review it.

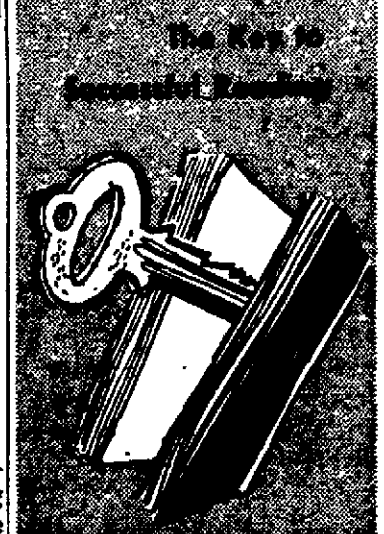

Write it in a notebook, write it in the margin of the book, but write it clearly and in an orderly manner somewhere so you can refresh your mind before exam time.

The techniques for reading for review before an exam, however, involve some other factors. We'll talk about them later in a chapter on getting ready for examinations.

The above suggestions may sound time-consuming rather than time-saving. But if you will have faith and give them a fair trial, you will find that they do work and that they do save time.

Tom came to us with a familiar tale of woe. He told us it was his habit to read his economics lessons three or four times. He went through and underlined what he thought were the most Important sentences. Just before tests, he scolded the materials in each chapter. The results of all this work was a grade no higher than "C." We agreed that it wasn't enough reward for so big an effort.

Tom's trouble was that his readings followed an identical process that brought nothing new to light. His underlinings left the author's ideas in the author's own words, robbing Tom of the illuminating experience of expressing the idea for himself.

We suggested certain improvements in reading habits: Read to get the big picture; read again to fit the picture together; read again for minute detail. And we asked:

"Tom, do you ever talk to yourself?"

"Oh, no sir," said Tom.

"You need to start talking to yourself—and answering yourself." It's a popular notion that someone who talks with himself is off his rocker. Actually, it's a habit which, consciously and purposefully employed, can help you clarify your thoughts. Talking to yourself forces the brain to digest an idea. If you cannot put it into words, you don't understand it—or at least you won't be able to prove to the professor that you understand it. Verbal expression is the test of fire.

Tom, incidentally, burned his way up to an "A."

Make Brain Work

Psychology, anatomy and science call for learning of many names. The wise student works out a memory system. There are several good ones. We recommend a system by which you call up a mind picture when a word is heard or read.

Let's take an example. Suppose the word is aardvark. As words go, that one hasn't much to recommend it. Most of us would just as soon forget it. But if you are a student and your biology teacher asks you to tell what an aardvark is, it suddenly becomes an important thing to remember.

One way to remember an aardvark is to form an exaggerated or caricatured picture of one. Johnny Hart, who draws the comic strip "B.C.," frequently features an aardvark—an introverted, sad-eyed, long-nosed creature, commonly called an ant-eater, whose long extensible tongue goes "Zot" as he laps up an insect. You get the idea. Draw a mental picture of the word, and it will stay with you.

(TOMORROW: How to read literature and modern languages for greater meaning and better grades.)

Depressed Areas Steel, Coal Region Stricken By Poverty, Hopelessness

BY NATE POLOWETZKY
JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — "I cannot identify myself," the letter read, "because I no longer have an identity."
"I used to be a worker, a man, a husband, a father, a friend, a provider, a neighbor and a member of a community, to mention only a few of my former identities; but I no longer hold a claim to any of these."
"I am no longer a worker because I cannot find a job. I cannot be a husband, a father, a provider, or even a man because I cannot provide a living for my family, which is my first responsibility."
The letter, signed, "an ex-coal miner," came to the desk of the editor of the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat.
"Ex-coal miner" said he was 43, married, and the father of 5 children, the youngest 9 years old.
In 1958, he wrote, "I received the final 'pink slip' from the mine where I had worked for more than 20 years. But until now, somehow, I still had hope."
"I believed that something would happen: somewhere a job would open up; sometime I would not be told, however, kindly 'Sorry. Too old. Nothing for you; or 'All filled up.'"
He added: "I am healthy and vigorous; my body aches to do an honest day's work, but I can find nothing but an occasional odd job."
The letter summed up the heartbreak and despair of thousands of the unemployed in the Johnstown area; which has been a "depressed" economic section consistently since 1933.

While there is some optimism here that things will get better in the future—a pickup in the dominant steel industry and the coal fields.
"I used to be a worker, a man, a husband, a provider. I no longer am any of these things. I cannot find a job." So spoke an ex-coal miner in Johnstown, Pa., and his words reflected the poverty and hopelessness of many workers in the steel and coal industries.
Nate Polowetzky, assistant general business editor of The Associated Press, is touring the depressed labor areas. This is what he reports in his first article from the steel-coal country.
Establishment of new industries to create jobs and diversification—the present unemployed situation is bleak.
Unemployment Rate
Some 16,000 men were out of work in the two-county Johnstown area in mid-December 1960. Of these 10,300 were unemployed in the immediate Greater Johnstown area. The unemployment rate was almost 17 per cent, compared to the present nationwide figure of about 7 per cent. Some other smaller communities are in worse shape.
And things have got worse since then as steel and mine employment—the two industries on which Johnstown previously depended for her economic health—continued to decline.

Johnstown is but one of some 16 chronic unemployment areas in Pennsylvania, where 433,000 persons, or 9.3 per cent of the work force, were out of jobs as of mid-December.
Legislation is pending before Congress to provide aid to the nation's depressed areas; to try to help them retain their unemployed and to help them attract new industries into their areas.
It is unlikely, however, that this legislation, authored by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and supported by President Kennedy, in itself will completely solve the depressed areas problem.
Will Continue
And even if a nationwide recovery should start—as expected by later this year—chronic unemployment probably will continue to exist in many areas.
Says Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh, in whose four-county labor market are an estimated 110,000 persons out of work, 60,000 of whom are chronically unemployed.
"Even if the steel industry returns to 100 per cent of capacity, we have reason to believe that this will not mean 100 per cent restoration of employment within the steel industry"—a sentiment echoed by spokesmen of the giant Steelworkers of America Union.
This is the way the newspaper News-Tribune of Beaver Falls put it in analyzing the need for diver-

Surplus Food Recipients Line Up at a Pittsburgh school to receive supplies. The closing down of mines and widespread unemployment in Western Pennsylvania's mining and steel producing areas have posed critical economic problems for many families.

sification of industry in Beaver County: "During the years of 1954-1955, a normally good year in the steel industry, there were 36,000 steel workers employed in Beaver County.
"Today, five years later, there only 29,000 employed. Of the 7,000 or so unemployed, between 2,000 and 3,000 will never see the inside of a steel mill again. In addition, of the 29,000 now working, about 10,000 to 13,000 work for less than five days."
Loss of Markets
As a matter of hard fact, automation and improved technological processes have permanently eliminated tens of thousands of jobs in the steel mills and will continue to eliminate more in the future while maintaining high production levels.

Steel has been hurt by the recent national business' downturn; and plagued by foreign competition and loss of markets to other materials such as plastics and aluminum — although there is some argument whether these two latter factors contributed to any large unemployment.
In mining, some mines have become exhausted or are too "high cost" to operate, creating pockets of chronic unemployment.
Automation has made such headway in the mines that over-all production can be increased without hiring any of the present unemployed men.

Adding to the unemployment picture in Pennsylvania is the decline in railroading as a result of the depression in steel and mining.
But throughout the depressed Pennsylvania areas there is a growing awareness that communities can no longer depend on a single industry—or two—for their economic health.

"Diversification" has become the new motto.
Some communities — Scranton, Ellwood City, Altoona, Canonsburg, Meadville, are examples — have succeeded in attracting new industries through self-improvement campaigns, revising their tax structures and through local and state industrial development plans.
New electronics, fabricating and research industries have moved into the Pittsburgh labor market.
In many cities and communities in Pennsylvania, long lines of unemployed men and women through unemployment offices to get their compensation checks; thousands stand in ankle-deep snow and in below-zero weather to pick up their surplus food commodities.
The unemployed have been sustained by relief programs, unemployment payments and, among steel workers, by supplementary unemployment benefits.
Some 112,000 persons, however, exhausted their unemployment

Delay Action On Advertising Of Free Items

Claim Prohibition Hurts Businessmen, Author Asserts

MADISON (AP)—Action was delayed Wednesday on a proposed repeal of Wisconsin's ban on advertising an item as free when in reality a purchase is required to get it.

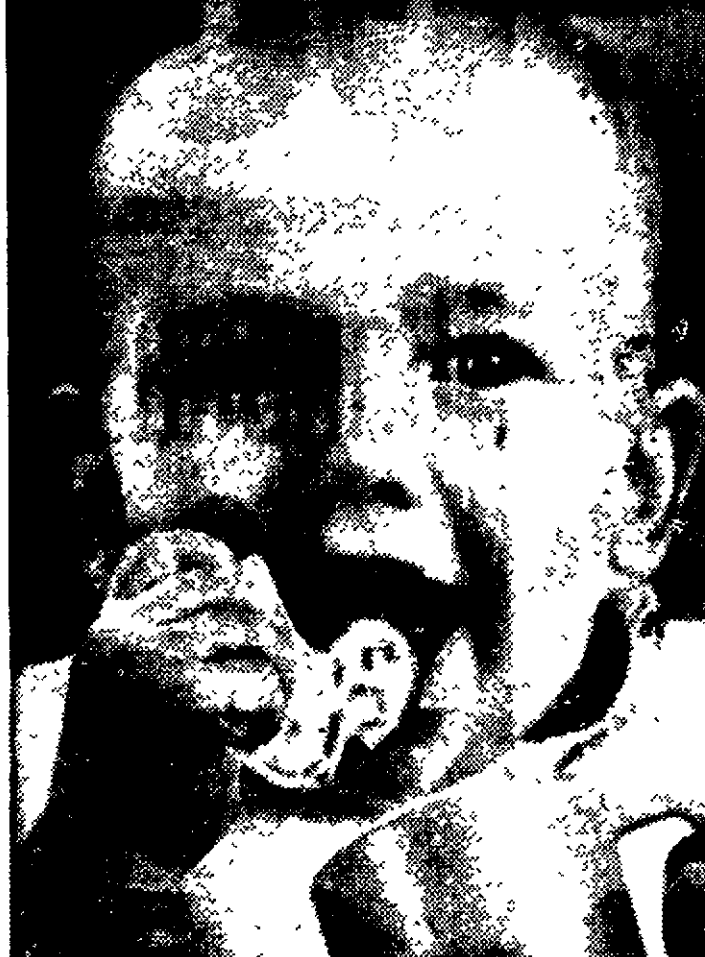

However, the proposal did get a generally favorable reception at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing, indicating that a recommendation for passage is likely. The measure was delayed pending the receipt of amendments being prepared by the Department of Agriculture, which polices Wisconsin's fair trade laws. The amendments are expected to permit the advertising of free items if it is clearly stated that the gift is tied in with another purchase. Also expected to be spelled out are penalties for violators.

Gerber Cookies... adorable, delicious, nutritious. Now Gerber Cookies come in appealing animal shapes: rabbits, ducks, dogs, cats and horses. Fun to hold, great to eat, perfect for teaching names. What's more, they're filled with crispy, snappy goodness... have twice as much protein as most other cookies, plus B-vitamins in the icing. Scrumptious crunching as is... downright dreamy when served with a Gerber Juice. Like the new Apple-Cherry Juice, for instance.

Gerber Apple-Cherry Juice... a liquid delight if there ever was one! Gerber Strained Apple-Cherry is a mild blend of these two popular fruits... not too tart, not too sweet, just lip-smacking right. Nutritionally, it's enriched with vitamin C, for sound gums and body tissues. Great with Gerber Cookies. Well as a solo snack. P.S. Don't forget those other good Gerber Juices: Orange Juice, Apple, Orange-Pineapple, Pineapple-Grapefruit and Orange-Apple.

Author of Bill

The advertising prohibition, enacted in 1960, is "hamstringing" businessmen, said Sen. Alfred Laun, R-Kiel, author of the repeal bill. The law denies businessmen use of "the extra sale incentive that goes with giveaway or premium programs," he said.

Wisconsin industries employ many persons in the manufacture of premiums and the free item ban works to their disadvantage, Laun said.

B. C. Ziegler, a representative of the West Bend Aluminum Co., said the firm had about 14,000 customers for its premium wares. "We'd lose them all and many of our workers would be looking for jobs if premium programs were banned in other places," he said.

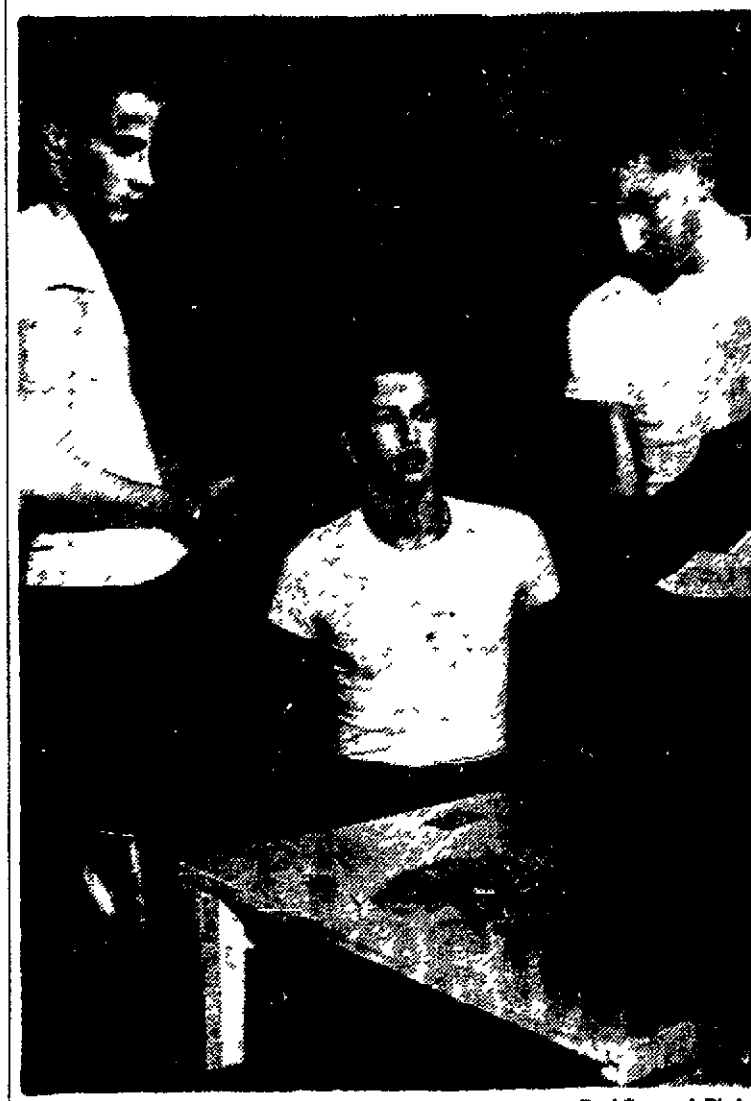

Amendments also are in store for a bill authored by Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosedale. The bill would permit an individual or a municipality to take court action against a party accused of creating a health nuisance in the disposal of sewage or waste material.

The Judiciary Committee did take final action on two measures, recommending both for adoption by the Legislature.

One would amend the Constitution to allow political districts to include all Indians in their population counts. The other would set up machinery for the dissolution of nonstock corporations by circuit court order.

In this scene, crew members draw cards to decide who is to go through the torpedo tube to save the rest of the crew. From left are Richard Cresswell, Stanley Chmiel and James Ragus.

Around Home..

Days are growing longer, but tempers seem to be getting shorter.

An Appleton woman told police a car full of young men ran into the rear of her car as she stopped to pick up a passenger. She got out and told the driver that if he hadn't been following so close there wouldn't have been an accident.

He called her an unkind name. She slapped his face. He without hesitating, belted her.

Police are tracing his car through the license number.

Son of Late Lumber Magnate Dies Tuesday

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Funeral services will be held here Friday for Frederick Weyerhaeuser, 54, son of the late lumber magnate who founded the firm bearing the family name.

Weyerhaeuser died in a hospital Tuesday after two weeks illness. He was a director of the Wood Conversion Co., a vice president and director of the Rock Island Lumber Co. and Rock Island Millwork Co. and a vice president of Gopher Electronics Co.

Survivors include his widow, Margaret; two sons and a daughter.

Kennedy Told Not to Alter Farm Program
Framers of Present Laws See Little Chance of Change
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans who steered farm legislation in Congress in recent years had this advice today for the Kennedy administration: Build on existing farm programs.
The legislators saw little chance in Congress for any drastic farm proposals.
The advice comes before the new administration gets down to drafting the farm proposals President Kennedy will submit to Congress within the next two weeks.
Veto Support Raise
A three-member task force committee on "the key elements of the agricultural situation" handed the new administration its farm program recommendations Tuesday. They came closer, in some respects, to meeting promises of the Republicans rather than of the Democrats in the 1960 campaign.
The committee opposed increases in price supports for major commodities and expressed the view that farmers would be unlikely to support rigid farm production control measures.
Kennedy's campaign farm program and the Democratic platform favored higher price supports and measures to control farm production and to halt surplus output.
On Capitol Hill today, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the senate agriculture committee, said: "With the possible exception of wheat and its surpluses, I think the best chances are to improve and continue our existing programs."
Doubt Passage
In the House, Rep. Charles B. Boevey of Iowa, senior Republican on the House Agriculture Committee, said he doubted that Congress would pass a general farm bill this year.
Another veteran farm legislator, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., questioned the alarm of some persons over the surpluses of food and farm products in this country.
"If (Soviet Premier) Nikita Khrushchev could match our farm production he would feel he was on top of the world," Aiken said.

WONDER RICE SWISS STEAK

One Dish Meal Serves 4

1 cup uncooked Wonder Rice
1 lb. beef or veal round (approx. 1 inch thick)
1 medium onion, sliced thin

1 No. 303 can tomatoes
Salt, pepper, flour
Cooking oil or shortening

Cut meat into individual portions, season with salt and pepper and sprinkle with flour. Brown on both sides in hot fat in a frying pan or kettle. Add the onion and tomatoes. Cover, reduce heat and simmer for 1 1/2 hours. (Check every 25-30 min. and add water if necessary.)

After the meat has cooked about 1 1/2 hours, cook the Wonder Rice following the easy directions on the package. Put the Wonder Rice on a platter or dish and top with the meat. Pour the gravy in which the meat cooked over all, and serve.

Left-Overs Should Go In Refrigerator Soon

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ready-to-serve foods, and left-overs, hot and cold workers, school lunches and eyeight all have a focus on health:

It's best to pop your left-overs into the refrigerator as soon as possible, hot or not, researchers report. Notions that the food should cool first are false.

The idea probably came from days when ice was used to cool the ice box and hot foods raised the temperature of the box and melted the ice.

But new studies show that disease-producing bacteria can grow in food from 44 degrees to 114 degrees fahrenheit. Cooking above 114 degrees kills the germs, and cooling to 42 degrees inhibits germ growth. Keeping foods, including pre-cooked, ready-to-serve types and vending machine foods, in the growth temperatures should be avoided.

School Lunch
How important is an adequate diet? A school lunch program offered by U.S. researchers in the highlands of Peru offers a clue.

After several years of adding up to 1,000 calories a day and needed vitamins to the almost completely vegetarian diet, researchers report weight gains double what they were at the beginning of the study.

Hot Or Cold
If you are a long-time Southerner, you'll get used to hot spells quicker—and you'll sweat less and stay cooler in hot weather than a visiting Northerner.

Scientists found this difference with young college students from New England and Southern Florida. Life in the Southern climate seems to equip Southerners with better heat-regulating mechanisms.

When the armed services pick men for duty in hot areas, they might consider the individual's geographical origin as well as his physical fitness, scientists suggested.

Mostly Cigars
One of the little known dangers of smoking for susceptible people is tobacco amblyopia, a doctor reports. Long-term cigar smokers are most often affected.

Some victims have sudden blackouts of vision, probably due to spasms of cerebral blood vessels. Other possibilities: weakened vision, loss of perception of red and green. Some women smokers develop dull headaches and weakened vision—then far-sightedness. Symptoms disappear when smoking is stopped, says Dr. H. S. Hedges in the Virginia Medical Monthly.

Eye and Mind
Three-quarters of eye disorder cases involve some emotional conflict—often resulting in an abnormal, unrealistic sort of eye self-consciousness. This can lead to further, sometimes disabling symptoms British doctors report.

Biggest Crop Year

The biggest crop year in history for U.S. farmers was 1960, 3 per cent above 1958 and 4 per cent above 1959. The principal increase was in corn, sorghum and other feed grains. Production of meat, milk, poultry and eggs was slightly below earlier years.

King Midas FLOUR
...the flour that puts magic-making in your baking!

"You know... that does
make sense..."

...if curling the dough kneads it better,
Cobb's Bread would be more tender."

You've got the idea! Yes, Cobb's tender-curls the dough, stretches the bread-cells. Makes it tender. Presses out air bubbles, too...so the bread stays fresher. Gives it a smoother, more even texture. And the extra baking time this new loaf gets gives it a better flavor. No, we haven't changed the fine Cobb's recipe. Everything's the same except the curl. That's the trick! This TENDR-KURL® method does good things for bread.

Now it's Tender-Curled

SEMI-BONELESS FULLY COOKED HAM

1. Only the finest fresh hams are selected.
2. Each is then carefully trimmed: the shank and pelvic bone are removed; only the round center bone remains; all of the skin and excess fat are removed.
3. The hams are then gently cured with a careful blending of salt, sugar and spices.
4. Each ham is richly smoked to impart the most delicious smoked ham flavor you have ever experienced.

But That's Not All . . .
During the smoking process your Super-Right special ham is slow cooked right in the smoke oven until it is fully cooked. Serve cold 'as is' or hot by heating through in 325° oven for 15 minutes to the pound.

Neighbors Protest Rezoning Petition At Supermarket

Council Grants Change Despite Opposition From Property Owners

Despite vigorous opposition from neighboring property owners, a zone change for Dorn's Super Market, 809 N. Richmond St., was granted by Appleton City Council Wednesday.

The council spent the first hour and a half of its meeting listening to attorneys for Herbert Dorn and his neighborhood opponents and to pleas from neighbors asking denial of the change.

Dorn asked to have four small parcels of land adjacent to and behind his store rezoned from two family residential and local business to commercial and light manufacturing. He intends to enlarge his parking lot and create an alley behind his store, extending from Packard to Lorain Streets.

Adult Schools Plan Course In Government

Public Officials To Attend Classes At UW Valley Center

Fox Cities vocational schools and the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center are cooperating to offer a six-session course in public administration for municipal officials.

Classes will meet from 4 to 6 p.m. Mondays, beginning March 13, at the UW Center lecture hall, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Kaukauna and Kimberly Vocational and Adult Schools are helping sponsor the course, for which there is no fee.

The course will cover administration and organization; planning and programming; finance and budgeting; communications; public personnel management; and leadership and public responsibility.

Consequently, it took a three-fourths vote of the entire council membership to approve the change. The vote was 16 to 2 in favor of it. Two councilmen were absent.

Jury had suggested withholding action until the next council meeting so signatures could be checked.

But Ald. R. P. Groh violently objected, saying "What kind of business is this, what's going on here?" He asked a halt in the council meeting so signatures could be checked immediately. At the suggestion of Ald. Homer Malmstrom he amended his request, asking that the council take up other business while the check was being made.

The request for rezoning was studied by the city planning committee at two of its meetings and approved last week.

Dorn's attorney said the alley would improve traffic safety around the store, because the exit from the parking lot would be on Lorain Street instead of onto Richmond Street, as it is now. He said Dorn was to be commended for providing more off-street parking at his own expense.

Called Hazard

The attorney for the neighbors said the alley would create a safety hazard for children at Washington School who use Lorain Street. Trucks using the alley would be a nuisance to abutting property owners, he said. He said also that Lorain Street was not built for heavy trucks and would be ruined by them. In time the street will need to be widened because of truck traffic, and property owners will be assessed for the work, the attorney commented.

Making personal pleas against the zone change were Lawrence McGillan, 712 W. Lorain St.; Mrs. Ralph Sanders, 817 W. Lorain St.; and Clarence Becker, 709 W. Lorain St.

About 20 opposing neighbors attended the meeting.

Oshkosh Youth To Attend UN

OSHKOSH — Steven Karges, son of Dr. and Mrs. Burton Karges, Oshkosh, is one of 56 students selected throughout the country to take part in a seminar sponsored by the Wesley Foundation. He will leave Friday.

A sophomore at Oshkosh State College, he will spend 3½ days at the United Nations and 2½ days at Washington, D.C. Theme of the seminar is "The Emerging African-Asian and Their Impact on the United Nations and on American Foreign Policy."

He will hear discussion by both UN representatives and Washington officials and will visit several embassies in Washington, including the Russian embassy. Karges wrote a letter of application that was screened by the Wesley Foundation's state council and then by the national council.

Begin Work on Planetarium At UW Center

MENASHA — Installation of the new planetarium equipment at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center was in progress Wednesday and today.

The planetarium will be operated this weekend. The first showings, at 7 and 8:30 p. m. Friday, will be for Outagamie and Winnebago county and city officials. Saturday's showings, at 2, 3 and 4 p.m., will be for the public.

The planetarium, costing about $12,500 for instruments and equipment, made by Spitz Laboratories, Inc., of Yorklyn, Del. Installation is being performed under William H. Ritchie, Jr., of the firm's technical and professional service.

Richie Wednesday found the latest in a long string of troubles involved with the project. He tested circuits until midnight Wednesday and continued today to discover where a short circuit is located.

Earlier troubles at the Yorklyn laboratory included damage by Hurricane Donna, two paralyzing blizzards which prevented employees from going to work and a power failure last weekend.

Because of the delays, the firm rented a truck to ensure prompt arrival in Menasha.

Menasha Kiwanis Club To Hold Pre-Lenten Dance at High School

MENASHA — A pre-Lenten dance will be staged at the Menasha High School gym from 8 to 11 p.m., Feb. 11 by the Menasha Kiwanis Club Boys and Girls Committee to raise money for community projects.

Projects of the Kiwanis Committee include scholarships for a safety class from each of the grade schools to attend the safety cadet convention at Wisconsin Dells, scholarships to the Trees for Tomorrow camp at Eagle River and a Traffic Club.

A Groundhog Peered Out from his log this morning for his annual weather prediction. Just after this picture was taken, he turned around and told the photographer that since there were no shadows to frighten a groundhog, it would be safe to venture out into the woods. Spring weather will come to the Fox Cities within the next six weeks, the conclusion is.

Crafty Scouts Undaunted by Cold

Emerging Groundhogs Assure That Six Weeks of Winter Still Remain

QUARRYVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Three observers today reported groundhogs came out of frozen holes and saw their shadows, indicating six more weeks of winter according to folklore.

Robert W. Herr, chairman of the slumbering Groundhog Lodge of Quarryville, reported that a groundhog emerged and saw his shadow.

The groundhog was spotted by scout Jack Lefever, one of more than 50 members of the lodge out looking in nearby Colerain Township.

(The groundhog did not see his shadow in the Fox Cities area. Dawn found the skies cloudy, and snow began before long.)

With tongue in cheek, Lefever reported that when the groundhog came out of its hole it was carrying a Harvard diploma. Lefever said the groundhog explained that was the only way you can get anywhere.

6 Weeks of Winter

Neither the cold nor subfreezing temperatures deterred the Quarryville lodge from coming out today. They shed their dignity and decorum for highjinks in the open. They put on silk hats, white robes over their coats, heavy, ornate chains and keys of office and began their work well before dawn.

In Punxsutawney, Pa., undaunted by subzero weather, Punxsutawney Phil emerged from his winter quarters, spied his shadow lying across snow-covered Gobbler's Knob and scampered back inside.

Thus, at 7:41 a.m., Phil, more aptly described as a groundhog or woodchuck, carried out his annual duty as a weather prognosticator. Six more weeks of winter, he said.

Phil didn't actually say it. His shadow spoke for him. For that's the legend that has existed in Punxsutawney since before the turn of the present century, 1898 to be exact, according to Sam Light, president of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club.

Attorney Will Study House Moving Issue

Edna Avenue Owners Voice Objection To Bringing Old Dwelling Into Block

NEENAH — The Common Council Wednesday night was faced with a situation for which there was no precedent and promptly referred the matter to the city attorney for study.

A group of property owners in the 400 block of Edna Avenue presented a petition requesting the council to deny a permit for moving an old two-family dwelling into the block.

Robert Cox, 430 Edna Ave., a spokesman for the group, said that four new single family homes have been built in the block and that moving the older house in with the newer structures would destroy property values.

"The city should do something to stop this sort of thing," Cox said.

Third Ward Ald. Peter Fara, in whose ward the new homes were built, said the four houses were probably the only new ones built in his ward in the last three or four years. He said there were no other two-family houses in that block.

Ald. Warren Sanders wanted to know on what grounds a moving permit could be denied. Mayor Chester S. Bell answered that presently the city had no basis for denying such a permit.

It was pointed out that the 400 block of Edna Avenue is zoned for two-family dwellings and that a moving permit has not yet been requested.

The matter was turned over to City Atty. Charles Schaller for study with instructions to report back at the next council meeting.

Mitchell's Parking Plan Gets Approval

Several Aldermen Oppose Hiking Meter Rates; Will Buy Ravine Property for All-Day Parkers

Mayor Clarence Mitchell's proposed solutions to remedy downtown parking problems, including higher meter rates, were approved by the council Wednesday but not entirely without opposition.

Separate votes were requested by Ald. Roylance Pointer on four portions of the proposal; hiking meter rates on College Avenue and for one block north and south on intersection streets from Durkee to Walnut Streets, hiking meter rates on Soldier Square, hiring an architect to design a ramp and negotiating a long-term lease with the Chicago North Western Railway for property near the downtown water tower, already leased for parking on an annual basis.

Opposition Votes

All four items passed. Voting against higher rates on College Avenue and intersecting streets were Alds. Pointer, Thomas Schneider, John Schumacher and Gerald Wagner. Voting against raising rates on Soldier Square were Alds Homer Malmstrom, Douglas Ogilvie, Pointer, Schneider and Al. Stoegebauer.

The votes on hiring an architect for a ramp and negotiating the longer lease with the railroad were 14 to 4 and 17 to 1 respectively.

Pointer said he wanted the separate vote on the lease because he favored trying to buy.

The provision to hire an architect was amended to read, "after the council decides where the ramp is to be built."

The original wording said the architect should design a ramp for either of several locations. But Ald. Homer Malmstrom and Mrs. Dorothy Stillings said it didn't make sense to have a ramp designed until it was known where it would be built.

Members of the public safety committee approved the mayor's proposal more than a week ago, after making several minor changes.

The committee gave first preference to buying the Packard-Division Streets ravine, to accommodate 600 cars for all-day parkers, primarily downtown workers.

Authorize Purchase

The board of public works was authorized Wednesday to negotiate with the 11 property owners involved to buy the land. Ald. Schneider suggested last fall that the city buy this property for parking.

The board was authorized also to negotiate for the Frenz property on Morrison Street, which partially bisects the two lots bounded by Washington, Morrison and Franklin Streets.

Mayor Mitchell had proposed that a ramp be built on these lots first. The committee changed this.

Too Cold for Intelligent Groundhogs

Racine Gets Seven Inch Snowfall; East Sieged With Cold

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Any sensible groundhog wouldn't have come out of his nice, warm hole into the cold Wisconsin air today. But if he did he probably wasn't able to see his shadow.

If the Groundhog Day tradition holds true, then, Wisconsin will have a short winter. But does anyone want to bet that we won't have six more weeks of winter?

The Weather Bureau reported cloudy weather throughout the state at 9 a.m. today, with light snow or snow flurries over the eastern, central and southern portions.

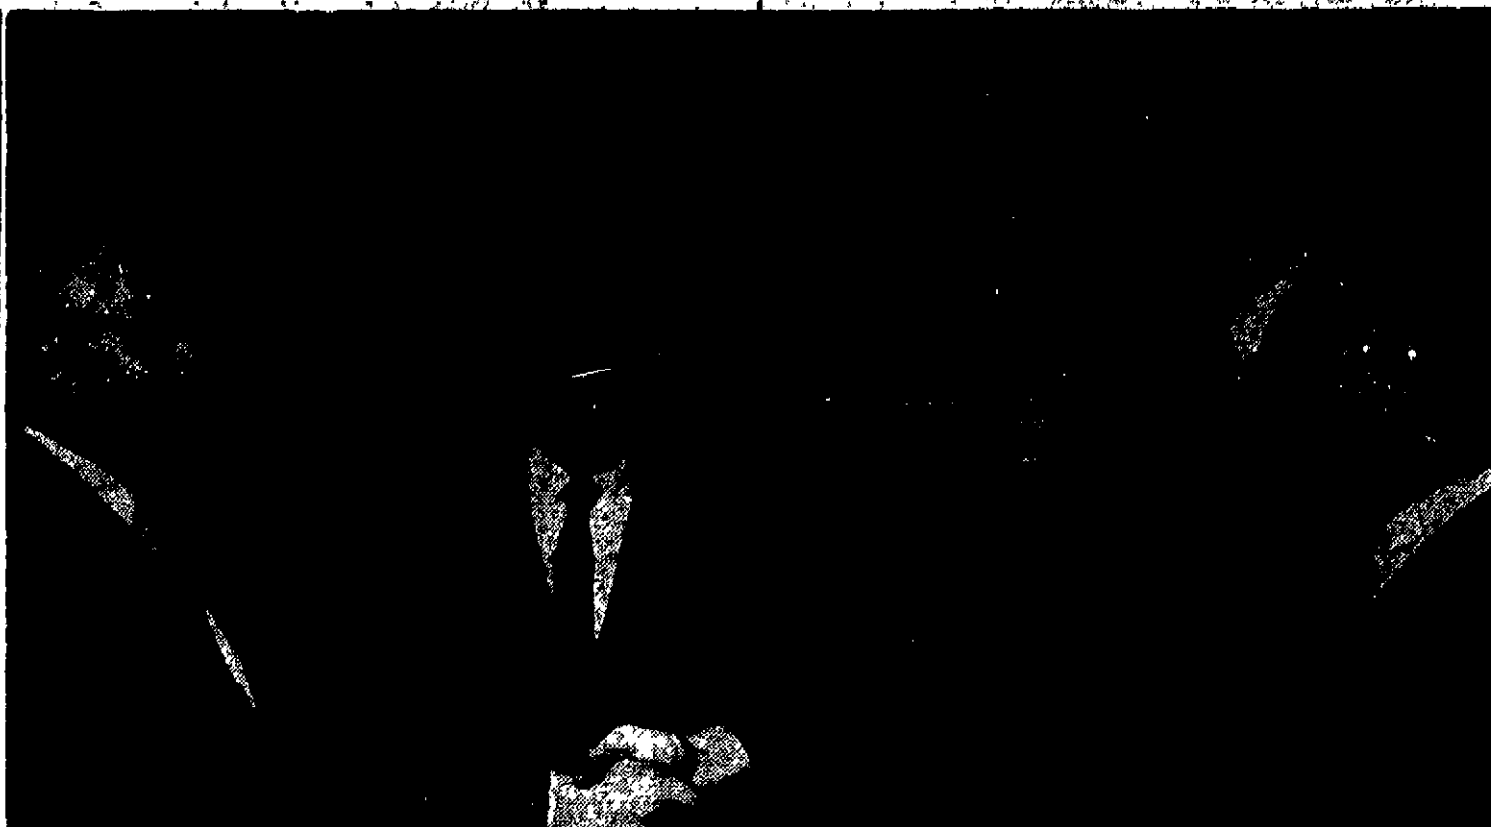

It was cold. The Hurley-Ironwood area reported the state's low mark of 10 below zero. Rhinelander had 9 below, Park Falls 4 below, the Superior-Duluth region 2 below. Other overnight temperatures included: Wausau 1 above, Green Bay 3, Eau Claire 4, Madison 6, LaCrosse 8, Sussex 9, Meqon 10, Lone Rock 11. The nation's coldest was 28 below at Watertown, N.Y.

Slippery Roads
The Lake Michigan shoreline got some snow, causing slippery spots on highways. Particularly hard hit by the freak storm during the night was the western portion of Racine where seven inches fell. But the snowfall amounted to only half an inch in downtown Racine. Kenosha recorded two inches while in the Milwaukee area the amounts ranged from four inches in South Milwaukee to one-half inch or less on Milwaukee's west side. Lake Geneva had three-quarters of an inch, Chilton, Delafield, Green Bay and Madison, less than one-half.

Temperatures Wednesday ranged between a state high of 26 in Kenosha to 11 in Park Falls. The nation's highest was 36 at Thermal, Calif.

East Sieged
Biting cold stung the northeast quarter of the nation today as winter's longest siege of severe weather showed no signs of a general break.

3 Autos Figure In Accident No Injuries Reported, Damages Exceed $1,400

CLINTONVILLE — No one was injured in a three-car crash, but extensive property damages resulted at 11.30 a.m. Wednesday on Highway 45, one-half mile south of Bear Creek Corners.

Dale Perry of the state traffic patrol, investigated the crash. Roger Wayne Kurkeide, 37, 1209 W. Winnebago St., Appleton, was driving south behind the car of David L. Thoma, 26, 316 McKinley St., New London, when Thoma's car crossed over into the northbound lane and headed directly towards the car driven by Mrs. John G. Solberg, 39, 45 West St., Clintonville.

Mrs. Solberg ran into the ditch on the east side, missed the Thoma car, and hit the Kurkeide car broadside as she came out of the ditch. His car went out of control and into the ditch on the west side. Damages were estimated by Perry at $1,000 to Kurkeide's car and between $400 and $500 to the Solberg car. Thoma's car was not damaged.

Chamber Group To Study City Traffic Flow Plan

Appleton's public safety committee is requesting the Appleton Chamber of Commerce to make recommendations on what portions of the Barton Report should be adopted.

The Barton Report, a primary street plan and traffic flow study, was made for the city in 1955. Up to now only small parts of the report have been adopted by the council and put into effect, such as creating some one-way streets.

Forest Muck and Robert Ferron, members of the Chamber's street and highway committee, will study the report and make recommendations to the city. The two men have made a preliminary study and presented a report to the chamber committee.

The chamber group indicated it was in favor of extending Washington or Franklin Streets to help relieve traffic congestion on College Avenue.

16 Per Cent of Village Taxes Paid in Month

$72,461 Collected Of $437,946 Levy, Reports Treasurer

KIMBERLY — Slightly over 16 per cent of the total tax levy of $437,946 was paid during January, according to Mrs. Katherine Lochschmidt, clerk-treasurer. Total payments amount to $72,461.

This is one per cent more than paid in the comparable period last year when $63,755 of the total levy of $411,366 was collected during January.

The treasurer noted 686 persons paid real estate taxes amounting to $70,654 during the first month this year compared to 678 paying in the comparable period in 1960. A total of 17 paid personal property taxes amounting to $1,807 this year whereas 22 persons paid in the first month last year.

Mrs. Lochschmidt estimated about one-half of the residents paid taxes to date, but was unable to say how many of that number took advantage of the 50-50 payment plan.

3 Men Deny Fatal Beating At Keshena

Trio Bound Over To Circuit Court For Murder Trial

SHAWANO — Three Keshena men pleaded innocent Wednesday afternoon in Circuit Court here when they were arraigned and the information read on charges of second degree murder in the fatal beating of William Nelis Jr., 24, of Odanah, Ashland County, last September.

Robert Hawpetoss, 20, his brother, John, 22, and LeRoy Sticks, 21, all of Keshena on the Menominee Indian Reservation, were bound over for trial at 9:30 a.m. Feb. 28. Nelis was beaten on a town road east of Keshena. He died three days later.

Nelis, a resident of Bad River Indian Reservation, had been visiting at Keshena. The men had attended the Shawano County fair.

Judge Gerald J. Boileau, Wausau, presided at the arraignment. He will hear the case because an affidavit of prejudice was filed against Circuit Judge Andrew Farnell, Appleton.

Kenneth Traeger, Gresham, is serving as attorney for the Hawpetoss brothers and L. J. Brunner, Shawano, is attorney for Sticks. The prosecutor in the case is Shawano County Dist. Atty. Fritz Eberlein.

VFW Post Takes Title to Building

The Harvey Pierre Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has officially taken title to its building at 501 N. Richmond St.

The post bought the building four years ago from Anton A. Koehne under a land contract. Terms of the agreement have been fulfilled and the deed is now in the name of the post.

Oshkosh Bond Issue Given Council Okay

Will Raise $610,000 For Auditorium at High School Site

OSHKOSH — A bond issue of $610,000 to finance a 1,500 seat city auditorium was approved by the Oshkosh Council Wednesday afternoon.

Because a donor will be turning his $72,000 gift over in cash to the city, the council cut the contemplated bond issue down by that amount from the $682,000 previously planned.

The auditorium will be built in connection with the new high school now under construction. Private gifts will pay for $300,000 of the cost over a 10-year period and $72,000 of the cost outright.

Favors Annexation Bill
The council also went on record in favor of a change in the annexation laws, supporting the proposed bill which would allow a city to declare its intention to annex a contiguous unincorporated area by adopting a resolution to that effect.

The resolution would be served on the town board of the area involved and filed with the state director of planning who would then call a hearing. If the annexation proposed were held to be in the public interest, the council could pass an annexation ordinance without a referendum.

Engineering plans for the resurfacing of Jackson Street from the Oregon Street bridge to Algoma Boulevard near the courthouse are being requested from the State Highway Commission. The council by resolution voted to ask for a survey and road plans and to pay for the cost of that work.

The council took no action on holding a primary for the office of council member. Eleven persons are seeking the four council posts coming up at this spring's election.

It would have to hold a special session in the next few days if it were to have a primary election on that office. A primary is required for the Supreme Court races.

Engineers to Hear Radio Astronomy Talk

M. T. Lebebaum of Cutler-Hammer airborne instruments laboratory division, New York, will speak on radio astronomy and radio telescopes at the monthly meeting of the northeastern section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at 7:30 p.m. today at the Green Bay Elks Club.

Lebebaum will use motion pictures about space communication to highlight his speech.

Waupaca Church to Be Conference Host

WAUPACA — Trinity Lutheran church here will be host to pastors of Appleton Conference, Northern Wisconsin District of the American Lutheran Church, at 10 a.m. Monday.

There will be a communion service in the morning. Afternoon speakers include the Rev. Harlan Swiggen, whose church in Madison has an extensive program of adult religious education.

The Rev. A. S. Peterson is host pastor and the Rev. W. O. Lawson associate.

Tavern Operator Pleads No Contest Attend State Safety Meeting

OSHKOSH — Clarence L. Suttner, 38, operator of the White Swan Tavern in the Town of Menasha, this morning pleaded no contest through his attorney to charges of selling beer Oct. 15 to three 17-year-old boys and girls and of allowing minors to loiter in his tavern.

He was found guilty of both charges by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane, who fined him $25 on each count.

Neenah Girl Fined $125

OSHKOSH — Miss Audrey Marie Jansen, 18, 124 Lorraine St., Neenah, was fined $100 for drunken driving and $25 for not wearing eye glasses as required on her restricted license by Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane yesterday.

She was arrested early Saturday morning on Highway 114 in the Town of Neenah and tested .17 on the breathalyzer. She pleaded guilty Monday to both charges, the license charge dating back to a week prior to the drunken driving charge.

Vandals Break Shields

Plastic shields valued at $125 were broken by vandals sometime Wednesday night. Appleton police said the shields were used as protection on a home construction job in the 1400 block of E. Glendale Avenue.

Kennedy Rule on Dependents Hailed

Morale of Soldiers Abroad Jumps on News of Reversal

BY GEOFFREY GOULD
WASHINGTON (AP) — It would be hard to find anyone in Washington today who says he doesn't like President Kennedy's lifting of the order to cut down the number of military dependents abroad. You certainly wouldn't find one in Capitol Hill, nor in the Pentagon.

Cheers and hosannas were the rule for Kennedy's reversal yesterday of former President Eisenhower's controversial order to bring home overseas service families to cut down the outflow of U. S. dollars and gold.

The reaction was even more ecstatic in the American service-man communities in Japan, among thousands of troops on winter maneuvers in Germany, among British shopkeepers who sold more than $38 million in goods and services to American servicemen last year.

"My morale just went up 100 per cent," said Air Force T. Sgt. Edward T. Green Jr., 32, Chicago Heights, Ill., now stationed in Tokyo.

Boosted Morale
"I might even re-enlist now that my wife can go where I can go," Green added. "I was intending to make it only 20 years, but I just might go for 30 now."

"It sure will make the boys in the field feel good," said an Army captain in Frankfurt. "I think it's much better this way. After all, the dependents have been sent over here to boost the morale of the troops."

At the Capitol, Kennedy's new order drew applause from several Senators, including Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., Francis Case, R-S.D., and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

But Byrd, Case and Goldwater expressed great interest in hearing what steps Kennedy would take to save an equivalent amount of dollars spent abroad.

Better Systems Needed
Kennedy said the savings would involve "expenditures for major consumer durable goods and tourism," but just how they would be involved has not yet been explained.

Rep. George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the house defense appropriations subcommittee, said he was pleased by the order. He added that the "whole problem of military dependents overseas should be explored and a better system employed."

An army wife in Tokyo, Mrs. George L. Smith of Hialeah, Fla., said "I think it's just wonderful that the families can stay together. My husband called me up from work and told me all about it."

From John K. Lay Jr. of Hope, Kans., now assistant principal of the Narimasu American High School in Tokyo, came this assessment of Eisenhower's original recall order:

"It was just too sudden to stick."

Move Urged Unless Alleged Violations Are Corrected

OSHKOSH — Revocation of Hotel Athearn's license is being asked by Victor Rossing, Oshkosh Public Health Director, if certain State Board of Health and Industrial Commission code alleged violations are not corrected.

The hotel has about 85 permanent residents, including about 50 Oshkosh State College freshmen girls in its annex, 18 elderly residents in the top two floors of the hotel proper and the remainder younger persons having permanent rooms. The hotel also has rooms for transients.

Rossing explained the restaurant and tavern part of the hotel are not affected by his request. The hotel was inspected last Thursday by W. J. Van Handel of the State Industrial Commission; Harold Wittig, of the Hotel and Restaurant Division of the State Board of Health; and Frank Hollands of the Oshkosh Health Department.

Making Corrections
Rossing said there had been complaints and requests for corrections of alleged violations over a period of time. Present management of the hotel has operated for only about six months and has been making corrections to meet the Industrial Commission and board requests.

The hotel is operated by Seniors Citizens, Inc., Chicago, a subsidiary of Bankers Life and Casualty Co., Chicago, owners of the hotel.

Rossing explained the alleged violations concerned maintenance, toilet facilities, fire escapes and exits and basement conditions. The building has open stairways and an open elevator shaft, he added.

Repaired Escapes
The hotel management said today, it recently had one of the fire escapes repaired and had made changes in some of the toilet facilities.

In the part used by the 18 elderly residents, many of the rooms have private baths and there also are general use bathrooms on each of the two floors. There are more rooms with baths than without baths, the management said.

Adlai Stevenson, Right, U. S. Ambassador to the United Nations, shakes hands with Russia's V. A. Zorin as they met Wednesday prior to Stevenson's taking his seat at the Security Council for the first time.

Adult Artists To Show Work At Oshkosh Bank

OSHKOSH — Adult artists from the Fox River Valley area will have an exhibit of their work on display at First National Bank beginning Monday, through Feb. 17. The artists are members of a class under the instruction of Mrs. Franklin Moore Jr., which meets weekly at Paine Art Center.

Neenah and Fond du Lac artists will be represented as well as those from Oshkosh. Mediums used are oil, water colors, pastel, casein and charcoal.

KHS Alumni Unit Names Officers

KAUKAUNA — Members of the board of directors of the Kaukauna High School Alumni Association elected Gerald Klister president of the organization at a recent meeting.

Other officers named include Norbert Noie, vice president, and Mrs. Marcus Nigl, secretary-treasurer. Named to the membership committee were Eugene Lange, Clifford Kemp and Eugene LaBorde.

Plans were discussed for the June 17 rally, and a plan for monthly meetings was approved.

Construction Begins on Giant Red TV Tower

MOSCOW (AP)—Work has begun on a Moscow TV tower to be nearly as high as the Empire State Building. Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Wednesday the tower will be 1,664 feet high. The Empire State is 1,694 feet, including its TV antennae.

Tax Law Violators Face Charges in Municipal Court

Taxpayers in the northeast section of Wisconsin who refuse or fail to file state income tax returns will be brought into Outagamie County Municipal Court, Dist. Atty. Nick Schaefer said today.

Schaefer said since Appleton is the headquarters of one of the four state tax districts the returns are filed here, and failure to file them is a violation in this county.

Municipal Judge Oscar Schmiede said the law had previously not been rigidly enforced, but there now is a "general tightening of tax law enforcement."

Two attorneys from the state department of taxation contacted Schaefer Wednesday. Four cases are scheduled to be heard in Municipal Court next week. Two are from Outagamie County, one from Brown County and one from Deane County.

Crews of an Appleton construction firm began clean-up operations at the site of the Kaukauna fire which destroyed two buildings causing nearly $200,000 loss recently. One of the major operations was pulling down a wall of the Wisconsin Bar, which had been leaning against an adjacent business building.

K-Club of KHS Picks Officers

KAUKAUNA — Members of the K-Club at Kaukauna High School recently elected Peter Bachhuber president for the year. Others named to office were John Britten, vice president; Gerold Hennes, treasurer, and Dale Buchburger, secretary. The election was held under the direction of Guy Krumm, adviser.

Cast for Kimberly High's 'Annie Get Your Gun' Told

KAUKAUNA — Casting has been completed for the Feb. 16 production of "Annie Get Your Gun" at Kaukauna High School. Extras have been selected along with additional committees for the 3-act musical. Student directors are Mary Nelson, Susan Gerend and Donald Pfeiffer. Prompters will be Kathleen Klein and Madonna McGinnis. Mrs. Kenneth Roloff and Mrs. Howard Springer are directors. The commercial department, under the direction of August Straus, will handle typing of programs and tickets. Students on this committee include Elaine Wollersheim, Ann Seif, Lois Kauter, Edith Van Dyke, Sharon Seitz, Karen Van Dyke, Joan Bauer, Margaret Landreman and Jeanne Carstens. Set designs will be prepared by the art classes under the direction of Daniel Hazen. Adrian McGrath and Elwood Bleick, music instructors, will have charge of music while Kathryn Ann Hartjes will serve as accompanist. Ushers will be Jean Bordini, Katherine Bamberg, Karen Bisek, Mary Schouten, Nancy Schouten and Maureen McCabe.

Women School Crossing Guards Begin Duties

LITTLE CHUTE — Women guards will begin duties at school crossings this week, Sylvester Vandenberg, chief of police, said, and parents are asked to instruct children to cross only at streets where guards are stationed. Two women were hired by the village board before school in the morning and at the noon hour, they will be stationed at Main and Madison Streets. After school in the afternoon they will be stationed at Grand Avenue and Main Street with police officers taking over at the Main and Madison intersection, which has heavy traffic from Kimberly. Clark about 3 p.m. Crossing guards are Mrs. Gerald Sigl and Mrs. James Van Der Burgt. They will work four hours a day.

Benefit Bake Sale Scheduled Friday by Combined Locks PTA

COMBINED LOCKS — The Parent-Teacher Association of Combined Locks State Graded School will hold a bake sale at 10 a.m. Friday at 111 E. Second St., Kaukauna. Proceeds will be used for charitable purposes in the village. Committee members include Mrs. Gerlad Helf, Mrs. John Opsteen, Mrs. Archie R. Jansen, Mrs. Wayne Hull, Mrs. Robert Lacey and Mrs. William Voights.

Janet Reuter Wins Ping-Pong Tourney

KAUKAUNA — Janet Reuter defeated Teri Landreman in two straight games to win the Youth Center ping-pong tournament for girls. In her march to the title she eliminated Ruth Van Zeeland, Mary Woldt and Carol Siebers, while Miss Landreman won over Sarah Berens, Sherrie Noie and Loralee McCormick. A boys' tournament was held last month and currently underway is a mixed doubles tournament.

Woman Delays 50 Years Becoming Citizen

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Russian-born Sophie Engelman, 78, became an American citizen Wednesday after living 50 years in this country. Asked why she waited so long, Mrs. Engelman replied "I had nine children. I never had time."

City Refuses To Hire Firm For Roof Plan

Goodland Field Project Delayed By 7 to 8 Vote

Appleton's City Council turned down a proposal Wednesday to hire Davis and Watson, consulting engineers, to design a roof for the grandstand at Goodland Field.

The board of public works recommended hiring the firm, which specializes in structural steel building. John Davis and Robert Watson said they would draw alternate plans for a flat fee of $1,500. One plan would put the press box on the roof, the other would keep it where it is now.

Several councilmen objected to hiring the firm without first finding out more about it and the quality of its work. "Who are these men?", the aldermen wanted to know.

Roof in Budget

"They are specialists in structural steel work, and are retained by a number of architects for that kind of work," Ald. Gerald Wagner, council president, answered.

A separate vote on whether to hire them lost, 7 to 8. A grandstand roof has been placed in this year's budget, for $13,000.

In other action, the council accepted the recommendation of the finance committee to deny bonus pay or time off to city workers referred back to committee.

who did not get off work the Friday afternoon before Christmas.

Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Billings submitted a resolution last month asking the bonus pay or time off, because street and sanitation department workers got time off.

"I hope our city workers don't lose faith in us. They have been treated very poorly," Mrs. Billings said Wednesday night.

Ordinance Pass

Ald. Al Tews, chairman of the finance committee, commented, "Two wrongs don't make a right. The council never should have voted to pay the street and sanitation men for the time off they got. That cost the city $200." Ald. Austin Tucker said he agreed with Tews.

Three ordinances were passed. One took N. Harriman Street, between Atlantic and Winnebago Streets, off the one-way street system, making it a two-way traffic carrier again.

The second annexed 81.95 acres in the Town of Harrison, Calumet County, to the city. This is undeveloped land owned by Arthur Kassilke. The east boundary is Kernan Avenue extended, and the north boundary is slightly more than a half mile south of Calumet Street.

The third ordinance changed the municipal band concert fund, making the annual appropriation $4,000 instead of $3,000.

Miss Sharon M. Wilkinson will be hired as a clerk-stenographer in the board of health office.

The street and sanitation committee recommended denying installation of water and sewer and grading and graveling on Murray Avenue between Jackson and Lawe Streets, because of a surface water drainage problem. But Ald. Robert Stumpf, in whose finance committee to deny bonus ward the street is, had the item pay or time off to city workers referred back to committee.

An Average of 100 to 125 salads are made every day at St. Elizabeth Hospital for patients and employees by Mrs. Frieda Hahn, a full-time salad cook, in the salad room of the hospital. The room, formerly used for storing oxygen storage tanks, was converted to a salad room last March when oxygen began to be piped into the hospital.

Names of Delinquent Taxpayers to be Printed

The names of all persons who have not paid 1957 personal property and real estate taxes will be published Feb. 10 and 17 in the tax deed notice, R. A. Bentz, Outagamie County treasurer, said today.

The notice in the Post-Crescent will carry the name of the person to whom the tax was assessed, the legal description of each parcel delinquent and the amount of that year's tax due plus interest to the last day of redemption, Bentz said.

He added that the county may take title to the property if it wishes on Oct. 21, 1961, if taxes remain unpaid.

150 Proposals For Improving State Economy

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson's Advisory Committee on Business Practices came up with more than 150 recommendations today for improving economy and efficiency in government.

Representatives of major business organizations in the state served without compensation in making the study and recommendations the governor requested.

Nelson said some of the suggestions have been put into use and others are being reviewed for adoption. In some instances legislation will be required.

Standard Difficult

The committee noted that because of more than 73 state agencies of varying size, function, framework, resources and responsibility it is difficult to establish and maintain standard policies and procedures.

The committee called the state's personnel system expensive and unwieldy and said it should be revised. It recommended bi-weekly payments of salaries. Now state workers are paid monthly.

The study found weaknesses in the state's accounting system and proposed greater use of modern techniques of data processing.

Former Turkish President Guilty of Misusing Funds

YASSIADA ISLAND, Turkey (AP) — Ex - Premier Adnan Menderes was convicted today of misusing up to 13 million lira ($4.1 million) in public funds during his 10 years in office.

Sentencing of the ousted premier was put off until the end of the current mass trials of leaders of his regime now in progress on this Marmara Sea prison isle. He faces a prison sentence ranging up to three years on the charge.

Ahmet Korur, former general secretary of the prime minister's office, charged with aiding and abetting the misuse of funds, also was convicted and also faces a prison sentence of up to three years.

The trial continued with the reading of a special investigating committee's report charging Menderes, ex - President Celal Bayar and 115 of their associates with criminal responsibility for the death of two students killed in anti - Menderes riots last spring. The report recommended the death penalty for Menderes, Bayar and eight others and prison sentences ranging up to 30 years for the rest.

If the prosecution accepts the committee's recommendation and asks the death penalties—as it al-

Logs Injure Worker at Tigerton

New London Man Struck in Leg; Benefit Planned

NEW LONDON—Percy Spice, 40, was struck by a log while working at the Tigerton Lumber Co. mill. He was brought to Community Hospital in a Tigerton ambulance at 11:20 a.m. He suffered a fractured leg. The muscles of the lower leg were severely lacerated.

Spice was working with a crew for Fred Kaminski when a log rolled from a load and struck his shoulder, knocking him down. Another log injured his leg.

Spice is a guitar player with the Powers Boys Band of Shiocton. Members of the musician's union local will conduct a benefit dance for the Spice family Friday night at Bean City.

The family consists of eight small children and Mrs. Spice is expecting another. Police Chief Jack Algiers said he will accept donations of money, clothes and food for the family at the police station.

24 Building Permits Issued At Neenah

NEENAH — Twenty-four building permits with a total value of $131,400 were issued during January by City Building Inspector Carlton Williams. This compares with a permit value of $95,700 for January, 1960.

Permits were issued for eight homes, nine residential remodeling, five non-residential remodeling, one shed and one fallout shelter.

The eight homes had a permit value of $112,000. Three of the new home permits were issued in the Sixth Ward and five in the Ninth Ward.

Rev. Vahey to Speak To Council of Churches

The Rev. James L. Vahey of St. James Methodist Church will speak to the Appleton Council of Churches at 7:30 p.m. Monday. His topic will be "The Launching of a New Christian Congregation." Officers of Appleton Christian Youth Council will conduct devotions.

Chief Says He Gave Permission To Burn Debris

MENASHA — Fire Chief Edward J. Helm said today he had given permission to an employee of a wrecking firm to burn debris at the former Walter Brothers Brewing Co. grain elevator Tuesday.

Helm said the fires were not serious but he did issue a warning to the wrecking firm after the fire department was called twice to put out blazes.

He said he intended no prosecution under the "no-burning" ordinance.

The ordinance was enacted May 2, 1959, and forbids outdoor burning except fuel used for cooking food.

Ann States That Evil May Also Dwell in the Eye of Beholder

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The nerve of that cat who wrote about her neighbor having all those cars in her driveway!

And then to assume the worst and ask if she should tell the woman's husband. Listen to what happened to me:

I moved here last October. Ann Landers I'm a natural red-head with green eyes which makes me a target for gossip right away. My husband travels just like the husband of the lady Mrs. Big Mouth was writing about.

The first day in our new home I had the following callers, and each one came in a car: a man to measure the windows for draperies. A circulation representative to get me started on a newspaper. A man from a dairy to give me free samples. The minister from the church. A doctor to give us polio shots. A young Republican to get us interested in local politics. A World Book salesman. A man to connect the gas stove. A painter to estimate the job. An electrician to install new outlets. My husband's brother to take me and the children to his house for dinner.

If anyone had wanted to tell my husband that I had a line of cars in the driveway they surely could have done so.—Also Innocent

DEAR ALSO: Thank you in behalf of all maligned neighbors.

Evil, as well as beauty, is often in the eye of the beholder.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is no joke. I need help. I'm an 18-year-old girl who is sensible and well-behaved. For almost a year I've gone with a fellow I will call Bill. He's 20, nice-looking, well-mannered, and normal in every way so far as I can tell. He says he loves me and I think I love him. Neither of us goes with anyone else.

He has never tried to kiss me, except in a brotherly way, on the cheek or the forehead. Once in a while, if the movie is especially romantic he'll hold my hand. I had many boy friends before I started to go with Bill and no fellow ever acted like this. How can I tell if he's alive?—Dill Emma his wrist and see if you can get a pulse.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My mother is only 18 years older than I am. She is separated from my father. Mom is very good-looking.

Kimberlaire Tell Valentine Party Plans

Mrs. Roy Van Harpen, 777 Manitowoc St., Menasha, will entertain members of Kimberlaire Chapter, Sweet Adelines, Inc., at a secret Valentine party Feb. 14. The group will reveal names of secret pals and draw new names.

The women, who met Tuesday evening at Kimberly Clark Corp., also planned a dinner to be held within the next two weeks at Bernie's Supper Club.

Don Bosco Guild Lists Schedule

Don Bosco Guild will meet Tuesday at St. Joseph Catholic School gymnasium for volleyball. On Feb. 11 the group will hold a Valentine party from 8:30 p.m. to midnight at the school.

A Green Bay Bobcat hockey game is on the agenda for Feb. 18. The group will meet at 7 p.m. at St. Joseph School. On Feb. 22 they will go ice skating at Jones Park. A bowling party is on the agenda for Feb. 26.

Hob Nobbers Set Dance Theme

NEENAH — "Sweet heart Swing" will be the theme of a semi-formal dance to be held Saturday evening at the Conway Hotel, Appleton, by the Hob Nobbers. Cocktails will be served from 9 to 10 p.m. with dancing until 1 a.m.

Members of the committee are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ginnow, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Noth and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Schuitz.

Flavor Potatoes

Kitchen trick: a little lemon along with melted butter and minced parsley, does a lot for boiled potatoes.

full of personality and could easily pass for my sister.

When fellows come to see me they become fascinated with her because she's sophisticated and knows all the womanly wiles that a girl of 17 couldn't possibly know. I don't think I'm jealous but I feel uneasy when she's around. I keep hoping she won't be at home when fellows come to take me out.

The other evening my date asked her in a kidding way to come along to the dance with us. When she accepted I almost died. He danced more with her than with me.

What can I do to combat this? She says she enjoys being my girl friend. Please help me.—Second Fiddle

DEAR SECOND FIDDLE: Although you asked for advice I'm going to give it to your mother instead—since clearly she is the one who needs it.

When your daughter's dates come to the house be friendly but formal. Remember the fellows aren't there to see you. A 17-year-old girl doesn't need a 35-year-old girl-friend. She needs a mother.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Spring Forecast Reveals No Big Change for 1961

No news is good news in the fashion forecast for spring.

That loose, relaxed fit, those bare arms and collarless necks, suit and coat costumes, skirt-pants, those style trends which were set in '60 are just beginning to jell now.

Thus America's husbands can thank their lucky pocketbooks. For, with a bit of nipping and tucking here and there a woman can keep last year's wardrobe from showing its age.

A survey of New York couture houses indicate these style trends for spring. Check them off with your own attire and see how you fare.

The shape... You figure subtly in what the designers call a bottle shape. The line in dresses and short-jacketed suits dips gently at the waistline, becomes fuller at the hips and tapers at the knee-length hem.

Backs Straight Nothing clings. The drape of fabric takes shape on you. Waistlines are either a little higher or a bit lower than your natural spot. Skirts tuck softly at the waist in front. Blouses fit with ease or put a bit at bellines. Backs are straight. Jacket and coat backs may dip a little.

Season for breezes... Dresses, and coats, too, are detailed with aerated sleeves and necklines. Wide sleeves, set in, or none at all, collar-bone showing collarless or necklines are a part of '61 detailing too. Bare compromise are drawstring necklines.

Side detailing... Buttons at the shoulder, marching down the side, side piping, side pleats, or tucks are decorative touches on this and next spring's fashions.

The cut... The way patterns are laid on the material determines design in many instances.

Plaids and stripes work together at the yoke and sleeve insets for interesting effects. Bias cut skirts, capes and jackets with figure draping interest are other couture tricks for spring.

Easy Look Belts... Draw strings, leather shoestring ties, or soft, wide lap-over sashes are a part of the easy-look fashion.

Young in heart... Designers who do depart occasionally from collarlessness, such as Norman Norrell, embrace the Peter Pan collar in varying widths, or those midly necklines. These with crisp, pleated or slightly flared, gored skirt are a part of '61's so-called Little Girl look.

Color... The shape may be the same in '61 (nearly) but the hue will be different. Purple bows out to pink, any kind of pink from deep raspberry to delicate baby tints.

Big prints in the boldest color combinations ever will be everywhere there's a fashionable woman... on overblouses, with slim plain skirts... as cocktail dress-waist in front. Blouses fit with ease or put a bit at bellines.

Combinations, with gaudy hats to match. The costume... Increased travel, unpredictable changes in spring temperatures are reasons given for this year's emphasis on the dress with matching coat or jacket. Dress is a basic hue with bold printed coat or jacket... or the dress possesses the splash of color with a solid topper lined with a dress matching fabric.

Cape Coat Coats and jackets... The cape coat with wide short sleeves, cut on a bias and collarless, has as its counterpart straightened ones

Church Women To Discuss Play

WINNECONNE — A 30-minute play, "High Pressure Area" will be presented by The Mask and Wig Junior Theater Group of Oshkosh, after the dinner meeting of United Presbyterian Women at 6:30 p.m. today.

with easy fit, sash belt and slit sides.

Jackets too will be available in a variety of lengths and fullnesses. You will find everything from the long, belted and shapeless tunic, to waist high straightline, short sleeved versions.

O Yes, culottes... Skirts that part in the middle to become pants were last season's trend shocker. They've been refined, and feminized in this spring's couture line. One house features Turkish type culottes is an evening version of the trend. Side pleats in other lines hide the skirts' dual personalities.

FBI Agent Tells Women Crime Increasing Yearly

NEENAH — "Crime is increasing more rapidly than the population," John O'Connell, agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Milwaukee, told the Women's Club of the YWCA Wednesday afternoon.

In 1960 there was one murder every hour, a rape every 38 minutes, an automobile theft every four minutes and 500 million dollars were taken in loot, an increase in crime of more than 11 per cent over the preceding year, O'Connell said.

To become a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, applicants must be lawyers, accountants with college degrees, or a college graduate able to speak at least two languages fluently.

Scientific Training Following "basic" training, the men go to the FBI Academy at Quantico, Va., where they are trained in scientific methods of detection and the use of firearms, each employee of the FBI is a special agent.

"The purpose of this extensive training," O'Connell remarked, "is to avoid mistakes as well as to take advantage of the mistakes criminals make."

The FBI comes into a case which is not covered by special law enforcement agencies; among these are interstate transportation of stolen goods over $5,000 in value, kidnapping, fraudulent check passers, and blackmail and threats sent through the mails.

Quick Identification In closing, O'Connell said there are 157 million sets of fingerprints on file in Washington; 120 million of these are civil prints taken during the war and 37 million taken at the time of a criminal arrest.

From this file, 1300 people are

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Early Bird Fashions

In spring fashion collections the costume sounds a dominant note. Were you to wear one right now, you would look as cheery as the first robin.

Costumes offer the utmost in gaiety. Colors are positively effervescent — torrid pink, bright orange-to-yellow tones, acid green, vivid turquoise, and whiter-than-white. For the more conservative, there is bright navy and textured black, sparkled with white touches.

Soft as an April breeze, costume fabrics focus on spongy wools and silky textures, both print and solid. A wool coat and silken blouse are the combinations.

As to silhouettes, no startling innovations are on the horizon. In suits, jackets are somewhat longer, slightly shaped in front and straight in the back. Skirts achieve ease through gores and gathers.

The overblouse is "the" blouse. Cape fullness marks the newswy coat. The dress beneath is apt to be a lightly-fitted sheath and, like a suit, wearable under a winter coat.

So, if you'd like to chirp a new fashion tune, begin to wear a new costume soon. It will keep you looking fresh and gay, from now right through the month of May.

Besides, the early bird catches the best fashions and gets the most use from them!

In fashion, nothing makes you lovelier than color. It can enhance your skin, hair, eyes and figure; it can express your individuality and style. Great powers, those! To learn how to put them to work for you, read our leaflet, "Your Most Flattering Colors." To obtain a copy, send your request to me in fashion show of Spring-Summer, care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin.

February Brimful of Special Days Just Made for Festive Foods, Culinary Treats

A Patriotic Drum Cake, handsomely frosted in red, white and blue tones, may be served either to observe the Civil War centennial on Lincoln's birthday or to honor the birthday of George Washington later in the month. Peppermint striped stick candy makes two charming drum sticks.

Maraschino Cherries, Green gum drops cut into leaf shapes and foil-covered cardboard hatchets decorate these clever Cherry-Log Cakes for George Washington's birthday events. The individual desserts are baked in aluminum fruit juice cans, then are thickly covered with a Chocolate Butter Cream frosting.

Audrey Redig Engaged to Larry Wolfinger

Mr. and Mrs. George Redig, Hilbert, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Audrey Jane, to Larry Wolfinger. He is the son Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wolfinger, Dundas.

Miss Redig is a graduate of Chilton High School. Her fiancé, an alumnus of Kaukauna High School, is employed at Thimney Pulp and Paper Co.

No wedding date has been set.

Fried Croutons

Ever serve fried croutons with soup? To make them fry cubed bread (crusts removed) in hot deep fat until golden brown. Drain on several thicknesses of paper toweling.

Garnish for Yams

Drained canned Mandarin oranges make a pretty garnish for mashed yams.

Senior Scouts Plan Dance

"Wonderland by Night" has been selected as the theme for the Friday night dance planned by Senior Wings Girl Scout Troop 120 at Sacred Heart Gymnasium. Special guests will be senior girl scouts and explorer post and sea scout units.

Proceeds from the dance will be used for a plane trip to New York City which the troop is planning. Chairman is Miss Susan Adrians. Committee chairmen are Miss Rita Dale, publicity, Miss Carol Sullivan, and Mary Kay Simon, decorations, and Miss Mary Dabrowska and Miss Carol Dzorchek, clean up.

This Colorful Salad Is a heart-winning treat for a Valentine's Day supper or afternoon party. Highly seasoned tomato aspic formed into a heart rests on a bread base spread with olives and cream cheese.

Shrove Tuesday calls for a meal of fluffy, light pancakes. A new idea, these Shrovetide Rolls are filled and topped with a colorful, delicious and nutritious Egg Sauce that easily will take first prize among family dishes for year 'round serving as well as on the day before Lent.

Ann Giovannini to Go to Scout Conclave

Miss Ann Giovannini, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Giovannini, 1046 Campbell St., Neenah, has been selected to participate in the first Girl Scout All-States camp conference to explore outdoor vocations Aug. 16 through 29 at Ross, Ohio. The announcement was made Wednesday by Mrs. Carroll McEathron, president of Fox River Area Girl Scout Council.

Miss Giovannini, a sophomore at Neenah High School, has been active in Girl Scouting for seven years. She is a member of troop 34, a Senior Service Troop. Her scouting experience includes two weeks of day camping, six years of camping at Chalk Hills and eight days of troop camping. She has served as a patrol leader in her troop and at camp for three years.

One of 100

She is one of 100 Senior Girl Scouts from the 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone who will attend the 2-week conference. The purpose of the conference is to offer seniors the opportunity to evaluate outdoor careers which make use of the knowledge and skills they have learned through the diversified Girl Scout program and its activities. These careers range from directing camps, supervising recreation and working as geologists and soil scientists.

The program consists of an introduction to career opportunities in the out-of-doors, as well as study and field work in the areas of recreation, camping and the earth sciences.

Staff to Participate

The University of Cincinnati is cooperating in this project which will take place at Camp Ross Trails, about 25 miles northwest of Cincinnati. Miss Mary Wolverton, assistant professor in the department of physical and health education at the university, has been assigned to the project and will be responsible for obtaining consultants and specialists in the vocational areas under study. February is a great month for homemakers with a flair for entertaining or a yen to cook up noteworthy foods for family and friends to enjoy. It's full of days that can be used as ready excuses for special occasion recipes and menus.

Just ahead is St. Valentine's Day, Feb. 14 that plays a dual role this year in that it's also Shrove Tuesday, the day before lent. Then there are the two patriotic birthday anniversaries of those two famous Americans, Abraham Lincoln and George Washington.

The valentine motif, the log cabin and cherry tree themes may seem hackneyed and over-sentimental to some . . . but they can still be fun for most people . . . and they do offer a colorful break in winter party and family meals.

As for Shrove Tuesday, it's a traditionally festive day in many parts of the world . . . known by many names such as Mardi Gras, Fat Tuesday, and Pancake Day. This pre-lenten Tuesday became known as Fat Tuesday or its French counterpart of Mardi Gras because thrifty homemakers, preparing for the period of fasting, wanted to use up all their cooking fats. Thus it was that pancakes became a specialty . . . hence the name Pancake Day.

So in sentimental mood and with a liking for tradition, we offer the following recipes for February use.

Patriotic Drum Cake

4 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon ground mace
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup softened butter
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 cups sugar
6 eggs
1 cup milk
Confectioners' Sugar and Water glaze
Vanilla Cream Frosting
2 sticks peppermint candy

Sift together flour, baking powder, mace and salt. Cream butter and vanilla. Add sugar gradually to creamed butter; beat until light and fluffy. Add eggs one at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Add flour mixture alternately with milk, beating until smooth.

Pour into greased and floured tube cake pan. Bake in a preheated, 325-degree oven for one hour and 15 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center of cake comes out clean. Cool in pan 10 minutes. Turn out onto wire rack to finish cooling.

When cool, frost with Confectioners' Sugar and Water Glaze. Decorate with Vanilla Cream Frosting, piping cake with one color and making side decorations with the other. Place two candy sticks on top of cake for drum sticks.

Confectioners' Sugar and Water Glaze

3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 tablespoons water

Combine all ingredients. Stir until well blended. Recipe makes one cup of glaze.

Vanilla Cream Frosting

1/3 cup soft vegetable shortening
1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1/3 cup light cream few drops red food coloring few drops blue food coloring

Cream shortening, vanilla, salt and one cup confectioners' sugar until light and fluffy. Beat until smooth. Add alternately, remaining sugar and cream. Divide frosting in halves. To one portion add red coloring; to other, mix in blue coloring.

Sausage Log Bake

8-ounce pkg. sausage links
1 cup macaroni
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs, beaten

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Combine cooked macaroni, cheese and bread crumbs, mixing lightly but thoroughly.

Cook onions in melted butter until yellow and transparent. Add to macaroni mixture. Heat milk in saucepan, just to the boiling point. Blend milk and teaspoon of salt into macaroni mixture. Add beaten eggs; blend.

Pour into buttered baking dish. Arrange sausage links on top of package directions, using orange juice instead of water. Eggs may be omitted if not called for in cake mix directions, since some mixes have eggs included in powdered form.

Grease insides of juice cans. Fill half full of cake mixture. Place on cookie sheet and bake in 375-oven 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from oven, cooling slightly in can. Then loosen cake from cans with narrow spatula. Turn out on board or cake rack.

Frost with Chocolate Butter Cream Frosting. Decorate with cherries. Cut gum drops into shape of leaves for additional decorations. Draw small hatchets on cardboard, making one hatchet for each cake. Cover with

Chocolate Butter Cream Frosting

4 tablespoons butter
4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
3 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
6 tablespoons light cream
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon orange flavoring

Cream butter, add one-half cup sugar, then chocolate. Beat until thoroughly blended. Add remaining sugar, cream and salt alternately, beating until light and creamy. Add flavoring. If too stiff, Turn to Page 9, Col. 1

Prom Club Dons Colorful Masks

One Hundred fifty members and guests wore jeweled, flowered or sinister dominoes at Prom Club's masked Mardi Gras ball Saturday evening at Menasha Elks Club. The ballroom was decorated with crepe paper, papier mache Mardi Gras figures and colored balloons which were released at midnight. At left, holding a large mask which was part of the decor, are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Otto, Appleton, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ogden, Neenah. Lighting a cigaret at a gaily decorated table at right are Mr. and Mrs. David Lloyd, Neenah. The streamers of confetti and balloons gave a gala effect as they were tossed about by the masked guests.

Today's Etiquette

PROUD MOTHER
My son will be honored by his company at a dinner for those employees who have served a certain number of years. These people always receive gifts. Here is where my stupidity is showing. When each person receives the gift, there is always a lot of hand clapping. Now Louise Davis does the family of one of these honored guests join in the clapping or do they just sit on their hands?
Louise Davis Answers:
There is no hard and fast rule, so follow your natural inclination. If you decide in advance that you are going to be a modest mother by sitting on your hands, no one is going to criticize you either silently or audibly if those hands slip out and start clapping. I am sure that were I such a proud mother that I would instinctively contribute to the ovation.

Persian Art Show Opens in Oshkosh

OSHKOSH—Color reproductions/Miniatures" consists of 32 illuminated pages from six rare manuscript and eight wall paintings dating from the 15th through the 17th centuries, which reveal the beauty of early Persian art. Presented by UNESCO, with the cooperation of the Iranian court, the exhibition is being circulated to art institutions and universities throughout the country under the auspices of The American Federation of Arts.

For the most part, the works presented in "Persian Miniatures" were inspired by epic or romantic poems. Through the use of luminous color, exquisite line, and controlled compositional effects, they serve to decorate the manuscripts and help the spectator enjoy the stories told.

Shown here are scenes relating the feats of kings, hunts, battles, fables and tales of love as well as landscapes, portraits and vignettes drawn from contemporary life. The scale of the pages reproduced is identical with that of the originals.

The Art Center will have a special opening from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday. Regular visiting hours are from 2 to 5 p.m. Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Children under 13 are not admitted.

Sheinwold Tournament Hand Is an Animal Test

Tournaments often separate the sheep from the goats. If you're curious which branch of the animal kingdom you belong to, test yourself on the tournament hand shown today.

West's opening lead is the ten of diamonds. Plan your play for at least a trick or so before you read on.

When you put up dummy's jack of diamonds, East covers with the queen. You can join the goats in that crowded room on the left, for you have already lost your contract.

East is sure to win two diamond tricks. This gives him time to lead clubs and get a club trick for West. The defenders are sure to get two diamonds, one club, and the ace of spades.

Two Noble Sheep
There were two noble sheep when this hand was played in a recent Los Angeles tournament. Dr. Edward Frischauer and Meyer Schleifer, both famous stars, made the game contract by allowing West to win the first trick with the ten of diamonds.

West couldn't afford to lead a club, since dummy would win a trick with the queen. When West switched to trumps, South drew three trumps, cashed the ace of diamonds, and gave up a diamond.

East naturally led a club, but it was too late. South won with the ace of clubs, led a diamond to dummy and discarded a club on the fifth diamond. This eliminated the club loser and assured the contract.

The two successful declarers saw the danger of letting East in to lead clubs. If West's opening lead was the top of the doubleton 10-8, there was no need to play dummy's jack; East would have to play the king or queen in any case. The correct play is chiefly a matter of resisting temptation, which has been known to separate sheep from goats in more activities than one.

INTRODUCTIONS

Is it ever proper during introductions to identify people in some way?
Louise Davis Answers:
Yes, providing you don't embarrass your friends with such praise or build-ups as to make them blush. Placing or categorizing people can be a help for ensuing conversation. Such comments as "Dr. Smith heads the graduate school at such and such a university." Or, "Mrs. Smith and I have known each other since childhood." Or, "The Rev. Mr. Jones is rector of St. Peter Episcopal Church here." Or, "Mr. Robertson and my husband were roommates at Yale."

IT MITE BE SOMETHING ELSE WHEN YOU FIND OUT I'M NOT LAZY!

PLEASE DON'T HANDLE THE MERCHANDISE

Q. Our parakeet's beak keeps growing constantly and is discolored. Please advise me. Miss M. L. Pesselier, Woodside, N.Y.

A. Veterinarians once thought that when a parakeet's beak grew too much it was because the bird was too lazy to use his cuttle bone. We thought that after a few cuttings, the bird would begin to use the cuttle bone and keep his beak shortened, himself. Now we recognize that this abnormal growth rate, accompanied by discoloration, is often caused by a mite. Sometimes it is due to a nutritional deficiency. In some cases we don't know the cause. Too-frequent cutting only stimulates the beak's growth. So, check for mites, make sure he gets a well balanced diet, and trim the beak only when absolutely necessary.

The Ailing House Fan Takes Separate Exhaust

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN
EXHAUST FAN TO CHIMNEY?
Question: I have recently purchased an electric stove. Could I place an exhaust fan in the chimney opening? Would this fan interfere with the heating unit?
Answer: Unless there is a separate flue in the chimney to take care of the exhaust fan it should not be vented this way; it will interfere with the draft of your heating system. It is not difficult to have an exhaust fan vented directly to the outdoors.

HAMBURGER STAIN ON FIRE-PLACE

Question: Hamburger grease was spilled on our new red brick fireplace. Is there any way to get off the ugly grease spot?

Answer: Scrub with a strong solution of trisodium phosphate, using about a cup to the pail of hot water; then rinse thoroughly with clear water. If stain not completely removed, apply a thick paste of powdered whiting and a nonflammable liquid spot remover, covering with a sheet of plastic or glass to retard evaporation. When the paste is dry or discolored, replace with fresh; continue treatment until spot disappears.

It was installed by an experienced workman, who even went inside the furnace on a board with a flashlight to seal everything tight and also sealed the door, etc., on the outside of the furnace. I can also smell fumes in the cellar when it starts. What is wrong?

Answer: The mixture of air and oil may not be properly adjusted. Recommend having an oil service

Our Children Youngsters Need Time For Learning Process

BY ANGELO PATRI
"Didn't the teacher explain this to you?" "Yes, but she was in such a hurry. The bell was going to ring and we have to finish this part of the book this week. And we only have so many minutes to do an example. She has a stop watch and every once in a while she times us because when we have a test we have to be fast to get it done."

Drills Good
Speed has to come slowly if it is to be of any service. Speed can function only after experience has made the process sure. A child can add, subtract, multiply and divide speedily and accurately only after he has mastered these processes as to make them automatic. Nine times six is 54 without thinking or counting on his fingers. That sort of thing requires long practice and that in turn requires time. Time is not popular in many classrooms today but it is a very persistent ingredient of learning and it would be the better part of wisdom to accept it.

Speed drills are good in their places. The experienced teacher knows not only how to introduce them, by gradual steps, but when they are needed. To introduce a speed drill when the subject is only newly introduced is one sure road to failure and to the disgust of the pupils on whom it is imposed. A lot of the speedup in teaching speeds mistakes. Some mistakes are expected when teaching children something new. Accuracy is the essence of good teaching and until that is assured, no attempt at speed should be undertaken.

Reading Speed
We are hearing a great deal about speed in reading. I claim that this has scant place in the elementary school where, for the most part, we should teach children to read with intelligence. By that I mean read to get the information, the story, the idea the page conveys. That implies time. Not many elementary school pupils are able to read speedily, select the main idea in a paragraph and state it clearly in brief time. If he can do it in any length of time, he is doing very well. The elementary school teachers should be satisfied if their pupils can read intelligently, tell what they read with some degree of clarity and never mind the speed. Secondary school and college can do the teaching for speed reading. Even that takes time. Learning is really a slow process for mankind. Give us time.

Fold-Away Panels Cope With Kitchen Light

Here's a new and decorative when they're made so that the unusual idea for wide windows over kitchen counters — those windows which can be such an uncomfortable problem since they must be faced so many hours a day, through light that's pleasant or glaring, and during night time blackouts of the glass. A semi-sheer fabric stretches over light wood frames, made folding panel-style.

The hinged panels push back to uncover the glass entirely when light is gentle on the view beyond, and move toward center for partial screening, together or separately. Just enough of too brilliant sunshine filters through when the panels are closed, and the fabric pattern is delightful wall decoration then and when it conceals blank glass at night. The panels must, of course, be made to fit the windows, and are best

TILE ADHESIVE OZZES UP
Question: We put down vinyl asbestos tile about a year ago on our basement and recreation room floor. We keep wiping up excess tile adhesive that apparently oozes up between the tiles; this happens when the tiles are walked on. Is there anything you can suggest to eliminate this condition?

Answer: Sorry to say, but the only way to eliminate this condition permanently is to take up the tile and re-lay the floor. You are right in saying this is excess tile adhesive; you were too generous in using it when putting down the tile. In time, the excess adhesive will probably be eliminated, but it will continue to leave spots on the tile surface unless quickly removed while still wet.

Succulent Chinese Jade Often Mistaken for Rubber Plant

BY KATHERINE B. WALKER
Crassula argentea probably holds the dubious distinction of being the most abused house plant that is widely grown. Known better as Jade plant, or Chinese Jade, this poor thing is often mistakenly called Rubber plant. It doesn't even remotely resemble a rubber plant, and if given the care the Rubber plants need, it will die in short order. Yet Crassula can, and should be made to live almost forever with very little fussing.

Overwatering accounts for nine-tenths of all Jade plant deaths, I'm sure. All the crassulas are succulent plants native to arid or semi-arid regions, so be wary when applying water. After potting it, never water any succulent for several days. Allow any damaged roots to heal. Then water sparingly for the new few weeks. When you do water on a normal basis, water heavily but not often. This permits partial drying of the soil, essential to good root health, and by giving ample water all at once, the plant can store up water for future use.

Fat, Oval Leaves
Jade plant is distinguished by having fat, oval, grayish-green leaves, and with age, a bark-like covering on the major stems. A filly mature, tree-like plant in full bloom is one of the loveliest sights in the world.

To grow your plant to perfection pot it in a mixture of one-third loam, one-third humus and one-third sand. This will furnish a reasonably light, easily-drained, porous soil that will supply good aeration for the roots (if water is applied as outlined above), a constant source of nourishment, and perfect drainage. This soil mix is splendid for any succulents, including cacti, except for the jungle species.

Jade plant, and other succulents like good air circulation, fresh air, and no sudden temperature changes. They also like, as much sunlight as they can stand without leafscorch. If the plants are repotted each year in fresh soil, they should not need supplemental feeding. Too much water, and high temperatures plus high humidity, lead to weak spindly growth and widely-spaced leaves, and to falling leaves and the death of the plant.

Use Tinsel, Ribbon, Cord To Make Useful Presents

BY CAPPY DICK

Collect the tinsel ribbon and cord which was used to tie the Christmas gifts you received and use it to make useful things.

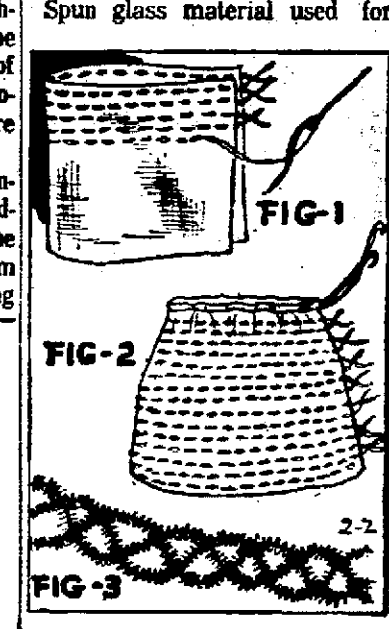

For example, you can weave it into a piece of burlap to make a shopping bag (Figure 2) for Mother. Use an oblong of burlap. Thread the ribbon on a big darning needle and weave it in long stitches through the fabric. Leave some of the ribbon free at each end of the oblong and tie these ends together in pairs as shown in Figure 1.

When the weaving has been finished, fold the strip of burlap end-to-end and sew the ends and the bottom edge together. Make a hem at the top and run a drawstring through it. The completed bag will look like Figure 2.

Braid strands of ribbon together to make a belt or a hair band. To make the braid thick enough, each of the three strands of the braid may be composed of two or more ribbons. Just be sure to hold the correct ribbons together in strands when braiding.

Opponents Offer Bill to Curb Daylight Saving

MADISON (AP)—Supporters of a proposal to extend daylight saving time in Wisconsin by one month ran into a threat of an effort to turn the clock in the other direction.

The clash on the measure, which would extend daylight saving time until the last Sunday in October, came in a hearing by the Senate Government Committee.

Opponents left the hearing pledging to introduce a bill of their own to cut the daylight savings period in the state by one or two months.

Will Withdraw

"It will be withdrawn when this bill is defeated," said Ben Hansen, man of the Wisconsin Towns Association.

Bills to extend and to cut back daylight saving time, now in effect from April until the last Sunday in September, were defeated in 1959.

Extending daylight saving time would end the "considerable nuisance" caused by Wisconsin having different times than Illinois and other eastern states in October, said Sen. James Brennan, D-Milwaukee, author of the bill.

Also drawing controversy was a proposal to prohibit pay raises to county, city and town officials during their terms of office.

Sen. Leland McFarland, D-Cudahy, author of the bill, said it was needed because public "confidence in government" has been undermined by recent pay that members of governing bodies in the state have voted to themselves.

A Wisconsin County Board Association spokesman, A. J. Thelen, warned the passage of the bill might upset "home rule." He said the present law was comparable to permitting the granting of cost-of-living bonuses to other employees.

Christmas tree trimming may also be effectively braided. If the braiding is loose as in Figure 3, three strands alone will be satisfactory because the material is rather fuzzy.

Mesh dish cloths which may be bought in the stores make good foundations through which to weave gift ribbons to make table mats. It is a good idea to use several colors of ribbon when weaving, alternating them to create an attractive design.

Offers Antidote For 'Decay'

Laird Issues Call For Philosophy of New Conservatism

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Addressing an American Legion Auxiliary forum on National Security, Rep. Melvin R. Laird, (R., Marshfield), recommended a political philosophy of "creative conservatism" as an antidote to the "poisonous process" of national decay.

Stating that "the creative conservative above all understands the key problem of humanity," Laird pointed out that this key problem is "overlooked by the dogmatic liberal, the radical and the reactionary."

"The creative conservative wants solutions which will remedy, not compound problems," the congressman continued. "He shuns methods which set up a new agency, a new subsidy. Agencies and subsidies are controlled by men. Men in Washington miles away from the local problem can make bad mistakes."

He stated that "the creative conservative wants any federal program to be in partnership with local programs. He wants any federal program to be designed to place the community or the people in need in a position to regain their self-reliance."

Central Government Criticizing both "modern day liberals" and "conservative reactionaries," Laird said that the disciplines of the collectivists on the near side of freedom," he continued. "Beyond freedom, compassion for the community of interventionist central government."

Conservative reactionaries, on the other hand "disregard personal obligation toward the community," Laird said.

"They seek liberty without obligation," he added.

The "creative conservative," however, "goes beyond the gateway of freedom," Laird said.

"Beyond this gateway, self-discipline, virtue, obligation, duty, and faith replace the imposed disciplines of the collectivists on the near side of freedom," he continued. "Beyond freedom, compassion for the community of

A total of $6,753 was collected Tuesday night in Appleton's Mothers March for the National Foundation.

Thursday, February 2, 1961 Appleton Post-Crescent B11

The Mothers' March of Dimes usually makes up about one quarter the amount collected in Outagamie county.

The Tuesday night fathers' march brought in $2,200 in Neenah and $1,100 in Menasha, according to incomplete reports. Last year's Twin Cities Mothers' March resulted in $3,000.

Alton Gaertner, route 2, Menasha, is general chairman of the fathers' march; Hugh Gear Jr., Neenah chairman; and Louis Briske, Menasha chairman.

March of Dimes special events in Little Chute brought in $1,180, slightly more than last year. Coin containers from business establishments and envelopes distributed to school children still are to be tallied, said Tony Van Bostel, chairman.

The report indicated $470 was collected in the Mothers' March, $423 was raised through bowling at Recreation Alleys used through the courtesy of Joseph and Ella Reynebeau, and $230 was the village contribution from money raised on the toll bridge. The bowling alleys were donated for three evenings.

Extension Sought For Bonding Device

Continuing 'Dummy Corporation' Suggested by State Commission

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Extension of the "dummy corporation" building bond device to permit the financing of a multimillion dollar program of construction of new welfare institutional facilities has been proposed to the state legislature by the state building commission.

Heretofore the so-called building corporation bonds, devised to circumvent the constitutional prohibition against full faith and credit state bond issues, have been limited to the financing of buildings for the University of Wisconsin and the state colleges.

Future Receipts
Such debts have ostensibly been secured by the statutory pledging of shares of future student fee receipts of the institutions.

The proposal now is to borrow for welfare construction, through a system of lease rentals.

The effect would be to pledge future state legislatures, over the life of the 20 to 30 year bond issues, to put up enough tax money at intervals in the future to retire the bonds.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson, who is chairman of the building commission, has been a critic of the "dummy corporation" device that has been used many times in the past, but he is continuing it because there is no alternative method of providing the money for pressing building needs.

The amount of money asked by institution heads cannot be met out of current appropriations, relying upon current taxes.

Existing Debts
Existing debt commitments of the commission through the building corporation method amount to about $100,000,000.

The current proposal before the legislature would provide an $18,000,000 cash transfer from taxes to the building commission during the next two years, and $44,000,000 in additional bonding, for a total of about $62,000,000.

Most of the money would go to meet the space requirements of the colleges and universities, which are experiencing drastic rises in enrollments. But about $17,000,000 would be reserved for state institution construction in the welfare field—including corrections and mental hygiene.

Presumably the borrowing device for welfare would be used

SPEBSQSA Has Installation of New Officers

New officers were installed at the annual dinner of the Appleton chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

New officers are John Ver Bockel, president; Clayton Kohl, first vice president, and Frank Hibbard, second vice president. Re-elected were Jerry Byrne, secretary, and E. L. Osterlag, treasurer.

Joseph Loberger will be district delegate and general chairman for the parade of quartets May 30. Kohl was named bulletin editor.

Special recognition was given to Donald Schanke and Roland Tonnell, chorus director, for services in 1960. The Astro Notes, Forte Fryers and Four J's quartets and the chapter Valley Aires chorus sang during the program.

Further, in future years, if the legislature gives its approval now, Gov. Nelson has again urged the legislature to approve an amendment to the constitution that would permit direct state bond issues for capital construction, and an abandonment of the building corporation subterfuge.

But the law-makers who turned down the proposal two years ago seem no more kindly disposed toward it today. The legislature is under the control of a Republican party majority. The Republican campaign platform of last year expressed opposition to state bond issues.

Nelson and other critics have complained that the building corporation device is a cumbersome, deceptive and costly alternative. The state is paying premium rates for its building corporation bonds, for one thing, the governor has repeated asserted.

Bond Retirement
One argument has been that the corporation device for borrowing has a built-in limitation—in that the receipts of income-producing properties such as university and college classrooms were pledged for bond retirement.

But the proposal to extend the device to welfare institutions, which are not producers of revenue, repudiates that argument. The plan there would merely pledge other legislators and other governors, over a long period, to pay for debts contracted now—even as would direct state bond issues if they are legalized.

Kaukauna, Iola Men Both Involved In Minor Accidents

A Kaukauna and an Iola man were fined and their driving privileges were revoked for a year when they were arraigned on charges of drunken driving.

Mark M. Nickles, 38, 419 Brill St., Kaukauna, was fined $100 by Chilton Justice Lee Karthaus after Nickles pleaded guilty.

Nickles was arrested by Kaukauna County police Saturday night after his car became involved in a 1-car crash at the Waverly Corner. The vehicle went through the intersection and piled into the south ditch, county police said.

Oliver M. Olson, 67, route 1, Iola, pleaded guilty of drunken driving Wednesday morning when he was arraigned before Wasaupea Police Justice George Whalen. He was assessed fine and costs totaling $123.25.

To Your Good Health

Diuretic Drug Not Useful As Agent in Reducing Plan

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I hear there is a new drug out, called Diuril, for reducing. Is it true it will help us lose weight? — Mrs. M. R."

That isn't the purpose of the drug. It's a diuretic, a good and useful one, but it is not intended as a reducing drug and won't help in Dr. Molner that respect. You could, for example, lose some weight just by drinking no water at all for several days. You'd dry out your system. But it wouldn't be healthful, and when you began drinking water, you'd put all the weight right back on again.

That's the answer to your question about using a diuretic as a weight reducer. However, there are cases, such as just before the menstrual period, in which the retention of excess fluid in the system can cause a temporary, rather sudden and occasionally extreme gain in weight for a few days. Some of these cases are greatly benefited by use of diuretics. But the diuretics don't reduce weight. They correct a temporary excess accumulation of fluid in the body.

Floating Kidney
"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes a dropped kidney and what treatments should be taken? — Mrs. D. H."

This is also called a "floating kidney." If it's a mild case, nothing need be done. If severe, surgery to "anchor" the kidney so it can't move around so much is the answer. Some movement is normal. Too much is too much.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My first baby had to be born Caesarean because she was premature and not in a position to be delivered normally."

"If I am to have another baby can I have a normal delivery next time, or must all my babies be Caesarean? My doctor told me I could very well have a normal delivery next time. Did he say that just to comfort me? What is your opinion? — Mrs. B.D."

Caesarean Birth
There are now plenty of records of women who have had normal deliveries after having had a Caesarean, and we know positively that the old idea of "once a Caesarean, always Caesarean," is not true.

No, your doctor wasn't just trying to comfort you. He was giving you the facts. Naturally he can't guarantee that the next baby will be born normally.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you give me some information about distilling kerosene? I have heard of it being used for treating such diseases as cancer and rheumatism, and since it has no alcoholic content it is difficult to distill. If any special instruments are needed, I would like information about where to get them. — R.Z."

Buy Refinery
Slow down a minute, friend. First, there's not a shred of evidence that kerosene will help any such diseases. And second, I certainly wouldn't try distilling such inflammable stuff — although alcohol isn't necessary to distill things. How about distilled water? In the third place, the "instruments" needed are simple enough — just a petroleum refinery! That's where kerosene comes from, the distilling or "cracking" of petroleum. Forget the whole idea, please.

"A reader: I question the investment in an expensive exer-

Mayor's Plan for Parking Fines Approval

Mayor Mitchell said today it probably took two months to get the higher rates could go into effect. Parking meter ordinance need to be amended and twice at council meetings the amendments can be made. Then the parking meter mechanism will have to adjust mechanisms of the meters to only half as much time for each.

Mitchell's parking proposal read speedy action by the public safety committee and the council. He submitted it Dec. 21, about six weeks ago.

Aldermen Correct Resolution, Then Note It Down

MENASHA — Aldermen like to see resolutions presented at the common Council meetings worded correctly and read as worded. A resolution presented Wednesday night calling for changing the name of Haylett street, east of S. Commercial street, to Langley Boulevard to conform with the street name of Commercial, was re-named to indicate E. Langley W. Langley instead of just Langley Boulevard.

City Clerk R. O. Hauser read the resolution with the corrected name, one alderman and Hauser inadvertently referred to Langley Boulevard as Haylett Street.

Hauser then read the resolution the third time.

The council then voted, 7-3, against the resolution.

Council Okays Pay Increases

Some Neenah Employees Not Under Hike Given Earlier

NEENAH — Pay increases for city employees not covered under the general 3 1/2 per cent pay hike voted at the last Common Council meeting, were approved by the council Wednesday night.

Salaries increased were city attorney, from $5,600 to $5,800; city sealer, from $1,050 to $1,100; police justice of the peace, from $2,000 to $2,100, and city health officer, from $3,300 to $3,480.

Salaries of school crossing guards were raised from $1.40 an hour to $1.45. Water plant operators received a 10 cent an hour shift differential for work between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m.

On Jan. 11 the council voted the general pay increase including a $15 a month raise for aldermen. All salary raises were made retroactive to Jan. 1.

The council also voted to hire Carl L. Williams, 700 Chestnut St., a personnel employee at Kimberly-Clark Corp., to codify the city's personnel ordinance. He will be paid $200 plus $50 for stenographic fees.

In other action, the council accepted payment of $134.50 from the Lakeview School District for settlement of assets and liabilities for the portion of the district in the towns of Neenah and Vinland annexed by the city.

The council also renewed its lease with Ralph Stahl for rent-lease of the building in Shattuck Park for $1,020 a year.

Far East Paper Industry In Primitive Condition

This means a twenty-thousand acre plantation of bamboo could be available in one year with nothing available the next year.

Bagasse is being used satisfactorily at present and has the advantage of a centralized supply from sugar mills. But without solving the problem of depithing and producing a better pulp by developing a new, or modifying present, pulping processes, bagasse pulp will remain extremely slow in drainage and rather deficient in strength.

Straw, especially rice straw, gets costly after collection, transportation and storage. It also has high silica content and very short fibers.

Solutions

Solutions offered for these problems at the U. N. Conference included properly programmed reforestation project for wood supply. For bamboo, a plantation program based on sound genetics was suggested. Bagasse might require the development of a new pulping process or a modification of present processes. For the manufacture of fine paper from straw, the Pomilio chlorine process seems to be a feasible one, but suffers from the lack of chemical recovery.

For all raw materials in the grass family, one possible technological advance would be development of a two-stage cook. In the first stage, the pith and parenchyma materials would be chemically removed, followed by mechanical separation. The second stage would remove more lignin to further free the fibers.

High capital cost is primarily an economic and political problem.

A small but flexible paper machine would meet the problem of limited local market which in turn requires starting with low, uneconomical production while meeting the demand for a variety of paper and paperboard.

In the technological area, the western countries can do a great deal to help the Far East on a mutually profitable basis.

about a hundred tons daily. But Formosa also presents an oddity. Larger mills are losing money, while the small ones operate profitably. This paradox is due to the local situation which makes it possible for the small mill to have less capital invested per unit of production than the large mills do.

This smaller investment is due to the following facts.

1. With limited production, all raw materials can be procured locally and all production can be sold locally. This eliminates much of the "distance" costs of transportation, communication, etc.
2. The cheapest equipment can be used, supplemented by much low cost labor. This further reduces capital investment.
3. Many of the small mills are a family business, further reducing overhead.

Under these peculiar conditions, small plants can make money when larger plants do not. The large Formosa mills survive only by export and government subsidy help.

Summarizing the Far East paper industry in general, Han stated that, with the exception of Japan, it was in relatively primitive condition, the causes being a shortage of good cheap raw materials, the high cost of investment and limited consumer demand.

Sen. Hruska To Speak at GOP Dinner

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Republicans will hear Senator Roman L. Hruska, Nebraska, at their annual Lincoln Day dinner at 7 p.m. Feb. 11 at Hotel Athearn.

Plans for the dinner were made at a county party executive committee meeting Wednesday night.

Sen. Hruska was admitted to the Nebraska bar in 1929 and served in Congress before being elected to the Senate in 1954. He attended the University of Omaha and Creighton University.

Chairman for the dinner is Clyde Neuenfeldt, Oshkosh.

The executive committee also reactivated its constitution and by-laws study committee and set its first meeting for Feb. 15 at the Wisconsin National Life Insurance office at Oshkosh.

Committee members are Palmer McConnell and H. R. Moore, Neenah, Roger Sweet, Menasha, Myrl Zimmerman, Winnebago, and Robert Savage and William Crane, Oshkosh. The county caucus was set for Monday, April 17, with tentative plans to hold it at Winnebago.

Status of Industry

Japan's industry is highly developed, but the ancient art of hand-made paper exists side by side with very modern mills. Japanese technicians appear to know their jobs very well and are inquisitive about United States technical development.

At a somewhat lower level is the paper industry on Formosa and in India. Formosa has about fifty pulp and paper mills, most having a capacity of several tons daily. The largest produces

Party Permit Law Gets Four-Hour Committee Hearing

Whitewater's Johnson Signs With Packers

17th Draft Choice
Brewington Also Agrees to Terms

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — Roger Johnson surprised his coach by signing with the Packers.

"He had some wonderful offers to go into business," Whitewater Coach Forrest Perkins said today, "and I didn't think he'd give pro football a try. But I guess he just wanted to find out whether he can make it."

Johnson, Whitewater's fine quarterback and one of the leading small-college passers in the nation, has signed with the Packers as a free agent, Coach Vince Lombardi announced Wednesday. The signing of Jim Brewington, 275-pound tackle from North Carolina College, also was announced by Lombardi.

Perkins said Johnson has what "you need in pro football—brains and a good arm. He's a straight A student, specializing in business, and he has a fine arm. He was the complete boss on the field for us and he only lost four games in three years." Johnson is six feet tall and weighs 192.

All-Conference
The Whitewater captain was selected on the state college All-Conference team the last three years. In four years at Whitewater he attempted 440 passes, completed 230 for 2,968 yards and 27 touchdowns — a completion percentage of 52. He completed 106 out of 185 last year for 1,406 yards.

Johnson won't be new to pro rules. "We use the best rules, the pro rules, in our football," said Perkins who is a brother of former Packer fullback Don Perkins.

Brewington, 6-6, was the Packers' 17th draft choice and he's a long shot candidate for a berth in the Packers' defensive line. The big boy has good speed for his size. He was a college teammate of Paul Winslow, the Packer back who was sold to Minnesota.

BRIEFS: Jim Temp, the Packers' defensive end who underwent an operation to correct a dislocated shoulder, will remain at St. Vincent Hospital through the weekend. He missed the last five games in '60 with the injury. The Minnesota Vikings are talking up a starting backfield along with George (Giants) Shaw at quarterback, Tommy (Rookie) Mason and Hugh (Bears) McElhenny at halfbacks, and Glenn (Bears) Shaw at fullback. Ken Beck of the Packers is a tentative "starter" in the Vikings' defensive line along with Bill (Bears) Bishop, Ed (Cardinals) Calipierre and Don (Colts) Joyce. The players' game in Miami, which is between the second-place clubs, has been named the Bert Bell Benefit, with proceeds going into the player pension fund. Bert was always a great favorite of the players. The Colts' Jim Mutscheller underwent surgery on his ailing knee in Baltimore the other day.

Ray Nitschke
Kimberly Fete

KIMBERLY — Ray Nitschke, Green Bay Packer linebacker, will be the guest speaker at the first annual sportsman's party planned by Father VandenBorne, council of the Knights of Columbus March 26 in the Kimberly High School gymnasium.

Master of ceremonies will be Johnny Sax, Green Bay. Entertainment acts are being arranged. Tickets will be sold by members of the council and at local business places.

presenting a petition he said contained 20,000 names, led the demand for outright repeal of the law permitting a hunting party of four to shoot an extra deer.

Backers of a proposal to modify the law to provide varied seasons in different parts of the state were led by J.R. Smith, head of the Conservation Department's Game Management Division.

The 1,300,000 deer taken in Wisconsin in the past 20 years was "almost an adequate harvest," Smith said, "but the harvesting was like a drunken sailor."

Smith said there was wide variation in the annual deer kill. "All we are asking for is adequate control so that we can level off the harvest and eliminate the severe ups and downs from year to year," he said.

30 Appear
More than 30 persons, most from northern Wisconsin, appeared before the committee, which is not expected to make any recommendation in the controversy for at least 10 days.

Mrs. Evelyn Mortensen of Oregon said, "the party permit has been responsible for a bloody slaughter and it should be repealed."

LaFave said the question "is not just on deer; the entire economic situation is at stake."

Terror '5' Seeks to Regain Winning 'Road' Form Friday

Appleton High School's basketball team will strive to regain its winning "road" touch Friday night.

The Terrors, runnerup team in the Fox River Valley Conference, will visit the Sheboygan North gym to do battle with the co-fourth place Raiders.

After winning its first five foreign-court games this season, AHS ran into a snag — suffering successive losses at Green Bay West and Manitowish.

With their easy disposition of Fond du Lac (79-47) Tuesday night, the Terrors regained the FRVC scoring lead from unbeaten Manitowish. AHS, which has reached or surpassed the 70-point mark four times in their 13 games, is averaging 64.1 in the conference.

On the defense, the Terrors' point pace is 55.8.

Despite boasting the FRVC's most productive individual scorer — Chuck Huibregtse — North is scoring at only a 53.1 team rate. Defensively, though, the Raiders are close to the Terrors with a 58.0 mark.

The conference's Nos. 1 and 3 scorers, Huibregtse and AHS' Pete Treiber, will appear on the same court. Huibregtse scored 23 points in Tuesday's 67-52 loss to GBW to increase his per-game average to 21.3.

Treiber passed Fondy's Al Eather and West's Bill Way in the scoring race with a 20-point night against the Cards. Treiber is now averaging 17.7. The best free-throwing regular in the conference, Treiber has shot at an 82.7 clip from the foul line (43 for 52).

West, which trails AHS by one game in the struggle for second place, will be at home to off-and-on Oshkosh Friday. First place Manty welcomes Sheboygan South, and improving Green Bay East visits Fond du Lac.

Zephyr, Xavier Basketball Teams Achieve Victories

St. Mary Wins Over Newman

BY RALPH MUELLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MENASHA — The Menasha St. Mary basketball Zephyrs recovered from one ailment but suffered from one other Wednesday night as they broke their two-game losing streak with a 66-56 victory over Wausau's Newman High School.

The Zephyrs proved they can make their free throws, something they couldn't do last Saturday when they lost to Pacelli, as they sent 14 of 18 through the nets at the St. John Gym. The team continued with a touch of "foul-tis," however, getting called for 22 violations. It was 25 infractions that led to their defeat at Wisconsin Rapids Assumption last Sunday.

The Zephyrs started the game with a bang, getting off to a 5-0 lead in a little more than a minute. But by the half-way point in the first period, Newman had moved into the lead, 7-5.

Breaks Zone Defense
With the aid of some fast passing, some pretty fair rebounding, and a 1-3-1 offense, St. Mary broke the Wausau zone defense and moved into the lead to stay. Gus Laemmrich hit a short jump shot, and Bill Becker came through with a pair of free throws and a basket for an 11-7 lead.

The two teams traded points for a few minutes, but it was two high arching shots by Kerry "Zeke" Young, and a two-hander by Phil Keller, that gave the Zephyrs a 21-14 advantage at the end of the quarter.

While Becker was the offensive leader in the first stanza, with 10 points, it was the "Kernel" who took command in the second. The "Kernel," as he is known at St. Mary High, is Jim Koerner. The 6-2 senior forward made 4 of 6 shots from the floor and a pair from the line for a 10-point second quarter. He finished the game with the same 10 points.

Koerner's flashy play ran the count to 31-20, 37-22, and 43-24 at the half. He pushed in two shots from the corner and added two classy tip-in efforts.

The winners held their 20-point advantage through the third segment but the gap closed 62-50 in the final frame.

Penk Out
Laemmrich fouled out of the contest with 3:32 remaining to play in the third period. It was the third disqualification for the senior star who has been bothered by a bad back in recent weeks.

The shooting percentage for St. Mary was 34.2 while Newman had a mark of 31.2. The Zephyrs hit

Dick Fellner Jolts 703 Honor Series In Fraternal Loop

Accounts for Appleton's Third
'National' Figure in 8 Days

Appleton's late-season epidemic of national honor count bowling continued Wednesday night.

Dick Fellner walloped a 703 in Hahn's Fraternal League on games of 202, 265 and 236. It was the third plus-700 series here in eight days. There were none the first 4½ months of the season.

Orv Strutz slapped a 701 Jan. 24 and Mendy Zussman hit a 700 Jan. 25.

The 35-year-old Fellner put together by far his best threesome of the season and easily the tops of his career. In the big 265 he socked six straight strikes, two spares and then finished with four strikes. He also downed six consecutive strikes in the 236.

At Black Creek
A 176-average bowler, Fellner competes in the Black Creek Major League on Monday nights, the Fraternal League, and substitutes in the Black Creek circuit on Thursdays.

Shiocton resident Fellner is in the accounting division of Appleton's Integrity Mutuals and bowls on the company team in the Fraternal League. AAL and Odd Fellows No. 2 (40-23) lead the league.

Herb Brock rattled a 614 for the Utah team in the Elks Western circuit. One of his games was a 256. Montana (33-24) shares first place with Gonzaga and Stanford. Merchants League action at the 41 Bowl was paced by Jim Agen and his 610 for Big Shoe (35-25), the first place club. Bob Diener

Golden Gloves Semi-Finals

NCAA Champ Jerry Turner Nips Appleton's Glasheen in Close Bout

Post-Crescent News Service

FOND DU LAC — It took everything an NCAA champion with 67 bouts had in his ring repertoire here Wednesday night to eliminate Appleton's determined Pete Glasheen in the semi-finals of the district Golden Gloves boxing tournament.

Glasheen, a 1960 novice champion in the 160 pound division who has had only six bouts, used his long reach with impressive skill in forcing Jerry Turner of the University of Wisconsin to go the full three rounds for a decision. Along the way, Glasheen rattled frequent left jabs off Turner's chin and several times rocked his experienced opponent in close exchanges.

Wastes No Time
Glasheen wasted no time in becoming the aggressor in the opening round, greeting the shorter, muscular Turner, who last year won the NCAA title while competing for the Badgers, with a flurry in the center of the ring. Turner's strategy was to work in close, then punch to the body and try to score with left hooks. Glasheen connected with three straight stinging left jabs midway in the second round as the fans cheered him on, hoping for an upset. Turner, his timing somewhat off because of lack of work-outs at Madison, finally began to find the range late in the third round and sent Glasheen's mouthpiece flying in the last 45 seconds with a barrage of punches to the Appleton boxer's bloodied face.

Get Ovation
When it was all over, a capacity audience gave both boxers a noisy ovation, with particular cheers for Glasheen's performance in a fight in which experience weighed heavily against him.

There were 22 bouts on the semi-finals program, 16 ending in decision, two by technical knockouts, one by knockout, and three by default. District champions will be crowned Saturday night at the armory in open and novice divisions.

Allan Defaut, Bonduel, won by a TKO in 1:54 of the second round against John Prien, Monroe, in the 147-pound open semi-finals. He'll meet Jim Caldwell, Shawano.

In the novice division Rich Boardman, Oshkosh, lost a 126-pound match to John Miller, Neopit, on decision. In the 135-pound novice category, Jim Haneseder, Oshkosh, won by a TKO in 1:01 of the second round, against Dan Babl, Schofield.

Hawks Rally To Defeat Chuters by 9

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE — St. John High School made a desperate bid for its first basketball victory of the season but Appleton Xavier rallied in the last half to pull out a 60-51 triumph here Wednesday night.

The loss extended the Chuters' winless chain to 14, longest in the school's history. Xavier now has an overall mark of 11-3.

Contrary to the majority of its performances this season, St. John got off to a fast start against the Hawks and led throughout the first half. The Chuters opened up 6-1 and 12-6 leads before the Hawks caught fire and dropped in seven straight markers for a 13-12 advantage.

Fight Back
The Dutchmen fought back and had a 17-16 lead as the first period ended. St. John bagged seven of 13 field goal tries in the initial frame for its best opening quarter shooting percentage of the season.

The hot shooting of the Dutchmen continued in the second stanza as they hit seven of 18 attempts from the floor, scored 16 points and held Xavier to 13. This gave the Chuters a 33-29 halftime lead and the St. John rosters comprising one of the top crowds of the season were in a frenzy.

As the second half opened, it looked as if the Dutchmen really meant business as Joe Verkuilen and Gib Hietpas canned buckets on the first two shots to rocket the lead to 37-29.

The Hawks, who had gone from a full court press to a zone in the first half, then changed their tactics again. They dropped back as if going into a zone but rushed the St. John player bringing up the ball as he neared the center court line.

The defensive move proved the difference for Xavier as the Hawks started intercepting Chuter passes, breaking up plays and harassing the St. John offense in general.

Nine Straight
Xavier netted nine straight points, five by "Kip" Whittinger, and the spurt propelled them to a 38-37 lead. Whittinger paced the Hawk scoring and was high for the game with 19 points, including seven of 10 on free throws.

After the Hawks took the one-point lead, Verkuilen hit a free throw for the Chuters to tie the score. Dick Wiesner meshed one for the Hawks and Whittinger followed it up with a layup to give Xavier a 42-38 margin and the Dutchmen never saw the lead again.

In all, the Hawks hit 21 points in the third period while St. John managed only 11.

The final period was a low-scoring affair with Xavier having a 10-7 advantage. Xavier led, 60-47, before Gib Hietpas connected for a field goal and a pair of free throws in the closing seconds to narrow the gap.

Coated Paper vs. Elm Tree
Post Office vs. Voc. School.

Appleton Coated and Post Office teams of the Industrial Basketball League remained in a first place deadlock as both recorded victories Wednesday night. Coated trimmed Hoffman Co., 61-59. The Post Office was hard pressed but came through with a 64-52 win over Elm Tree. Other games saw the Vocational School stay in the running with a 61-51 victory over the Police and Headquarters top AAL, 44-41.

Al Harke's 23 points and Dick Watson's 22 paced the Coated team over Hoffman. The pair had 21 of the team's 28 field goals. The winners took a 16-3 first period lead and were never headed.

Bill Geenen notched 23 markers in leading the Post Office victory. The victors were in front all the way but did not take a commanding margin until the final quarter.

The Vocational School took a 27-9 first half lead to outdistance the Police. Don Althus hit 25 points for the winners.

Headquarters had to come from behind with 14 points in the final period for the three-point win over AAL. Don Otto had 19 for the victors.

Zephyr JV '5' Wins, 56-49, Over Newman

MENASHA — The St. Mary High School junior varsity grabbed a 29-16 lead at halftime and then held off Wausau Newman in the last two quarters to chalk up a 56-49 victory Wednesday night in the St. John Gym.

The Newman Cardinals closed the gap to 37-34 in the third period by using long passes and a fast break against the tight pressing defense of the junior Zephyrs.

Bill Starr paced the winners' attack with 18 points.

Bowls 547 Series In Kitchen Loop

"Skeet" Reichert downed a 547 three-some for Alko Foods earlier this week in the Kitchen Cheaters League at Hahn's. One of her games was a 196. Brettschneider (39-18) leads by six games.

Lois Mahn's 540 for Coated Paper topped the ACA's Lucky League. One of her games was a 192.

Vi Miller's (37-17) leads by one game.

The leading threesome in the Universal League at the 41 Bowl was a 581 by Howard Corning for Modern American Homes. Fred Biesecker slapped a 225 for Holiday Inn (404-194), the first place club.

Bonnies are 3-Point Choice Over Bradley

Seventh-Ranked Louisville Whips Tampa, 103-74

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Bonaventure and Bradley, two college basketball powers just seven points shy of perfect records, play tonight at neutral Madison Square Garden in New York in the first of two showdowns that should establish the chief challengers to top-ranked Ohio State's national supremacy.

The Bonnies are second-ranked with a 15-1 record that includes a two-point loss (84-82) to Ohio State in the Holiday Festival at the Garden during Christmas week.

It's the first appearance back in the Garden for Coach Chuck Orsborn's Bradley Braves since they won the National Invitation Tournament there last March, including an 82-71 semifinal victory over St. Bonaventure.

Major League Efforts To End Segregation in Camps Meets Barriers

Teams in Florida Want Negroes With Rest of Teammates

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Efforts of major league baseball clubs to end racial segregation in spring training sites, just as they have on the ball field, today met with barriers of silence or politely negative replies.

At issue is the question of whether Negro players on the big league teams which train in Florida will be allowed the use of the same hotel and dining room facilities as their white teammates.

President Dan Topping of the New York Yankees took the lead in the movement after Dr. Ralph Wambush of St. Petersburg, a Negro leader who has helped find adequate housing for Negro players there for several years, suggested it was time for the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals to take steps to end segregation.

Same Statements
In reply to Topping's proposal that the entire Yankee team should be housed under one roof, the manager and assistant manager of their headquarters hotel (Soreno) issued identical statements that "we hope to have them with us for many years to come."

The Yanks' hotel and that occupied by the Cardinals are operated as part of a big chain. Its president was not available for comment.

A Miami hotel spokesman said

Six Fire 65, Share Lead in Desert Classic

Marr Just Misses $50,000 Prize for Hole-in-One

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Six pros who carded 65s and 52 others who broke par are the guys to catch today as the $50,000 Palm Springs Desert golf classic goes into the second round of its 90-hole, five day play.

And the $50,000 prize to the lucky winner who scores a hole-in-one is still up for grabs although Dave Marr of Houston came heart-breakingly close when his ball rolled right over the cup on the 203-yard 16th at Thunderbird.

Marr's 65, however, was good enough to land him in a mass first place tie with Ken Venturi, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Rosburg, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Charlie Sifford, the great Los Angeles Negro pro.

Sifford also was a near miss artist. Two putts that rimmed the cup and jumped out would have given him a 63—two strokes ahead of the field.

Grouped at 66 were Bob Shields, Jay Herbert and Don White. At 67 were Art Wall, Gardner Dickinson, Henry Williams, Jr., Fred Hawkins and Johnny Pott.

Fourteen more pros shot 68 and 15 made 69. Among the latter was Arnold Palmer, defending champion.

70 Shooters
Joe Campbell, the Knoxville pro who won last year's hole-in-one jackpot, was one of a dozen 70 shooters.

Campbell disclosed that he almost repeated last year's feat on the fourth hole at Indian Wells. Mike Souchak, always a contender, was disqualified for signing an incorrect card. His score put down a five when the former Duke football star actually shot a six.

Today, the 127 remaining pros switch to other courses. Of the four—Indian Wells, Thunderbird, Bermuda Dunes and Eldorado—it was the latter course that caused most of the trouble. Many of the pros there shot in the high 70s and some in the 80s.

On Sunday, the 60 low pros descend on Tamarisk, rated even tougher than Eldorado for the fight to the finish and the $50,000 pot.

Titans Lose Dean Austin Ranked Eighth in League Scoring; Vincent Still First

OSHKOSH (AP) — The loss of Oshkosh ace Dean Austin because of scholastic difficulties was announced today, depriving the Wisconsin State College Conference of one of its top scorers.

Austin, who was ranked eighth in conference scoring with 121 points, was a sophomore standout for Oshkosh. In his last three games, he had clicked for 89 points.

The official weekly statistics showed that Dave Vincent of the University of Wisconsin—Milwaukee still is in front in the scoring department. Vincent has tallied 83 field goals and 27 free throws for 193 points, an average of slightly better than 27 per game.

Don Braun of Platteville moved into the runnerup spot on the strength of a 42-point output against UWM. He has 174 points, one more than UWM's Jerry Grochowski. Rounding out the top five were Art Nelson of Superior with 149 points and J.P. Fisher of Whitewater with 143.

Three games on the sideline because of illness didn't affect the eyesight of Tommy Heinsohn.

The veteran scored 31 points Wednesday night in leading with Boston Celtics to a 124-120 come-from-behind National Basketball Association victory over the New York Knicks.

The victory kept the Celtics six games in front of Philadelphia in the Eastern Division as the Warriors downed the Nationals 122-113 in the second game of a double-header at Syracuse. In the opener the St. Louis Hawks boosted their Western Division lead to 11 games with a 137-131 decision over the second-place Detroit Pistons.

Texas Cager Credits New-Found Success To His Wife's Cooking

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Butch Skeete, Texas' most improved basketball player this season, credits his current success to his wife, Gwen, whom he married last August.

Skeete's awakening has figured prominently in the Longhorns' surge to the top in the Southwest Conference race.

"I'm settled down now," Skeete remarked. "I was overweight last year, but now my wife is watching what I eat." Skeete is the only married player on the UT varsity roster.

Last season the 20-year-old Weimar junior was 15 pounds overweight. He started only two games for Harold Bradley's championship team.

This season he has emerged as UT's top defensive player starting all but two early season games.

Expect Lifting of Ban on McKinley

But USLTA Will Probably Give Warning on Player Conduct

By WEL GRIMLEY
NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — U.S. tennis chieftains are expected to lift the suspension of Davis Cup player Chuck McKinley this weekend but lay down a stern warning to all players to watch their court conduct in the future.

Players will be told that offensive deportment — temper tantrums, ball-bashing and racket-throwing—will result in suspension and a ban on international play, including the Davis Cup.

The controversial McKinley case is one of the first to be aired before the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, meeting here through Saturday.

Today the amateur rules committee, headed by Don Hobart, is to hear evidence of the McKinley racket-throwing incident last December in Perth, Australia. Its findings, not to be announced, will be turned over to the executive committee for action Friday night.

Crowded Stand
McKinley, 19, from St. Louis, flung his racket into a crowded Perth grandstand after he had blown a point that cost the American doubles team of McKinley and Earl (Butch) Buchholz the match against Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola.

The racket landed among some Italian spectators, but hit no one, and no damage was done. However, George Barnes, president of the USLTA, suspended the young Davis Cup ace pending an executive committee decision this week.

Hobart, head of the amateur rules committee, said he had received a letter of apology and explanation from McKinley, now a student at Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex. Also many others had come to the player's defense, Hobart added.

McKinley was invited to appear before the committee but was unable to leave his college work. He said his racket-tossing was an impetuous gesture and that he meant no harm. He said he was upset because he felt he had let down both his team and his country.

Several of Onopa's shots came on long two-handed jump shots from outside the free throw circle.

Bill Becker paced the St. Mary attack with six successful shots out of 13 attempts from the floor and five of six from the line.

Lang Clouts 659 In Menasha Wheel

Don Fisher Authors 657 for Fox Valley Classic Honors

MENASHA — "Hezy" Lang clouted a 659 series to grab bowling honors in the Twin Cities Wednesday evening. Using a 245 game, Lang rolled his total in the Businessmen's wheel at Menasha's Mid-Town alleys.

Langs Pharmacy (49-17) holds a seven game lead in the standings.

Frank Stanelle and Tom Walsh led the Uptown Commercial League at the same establishment. Stanelle fired a 239 single and Walsh hit a 620 set.

W.W. Bar swept team honors for the evening but is tied with Elmer's for the league lead. Both teams have won 46 games.

In the other league at Mid-Town, Francis Ashley compiled a 502, for the only honor score in the circuit. Rippl Plumbing (45-12) has a 9-game lead.

Loop Statistics Dominated by Ohio State Five

Bucks Shooting
At Record Pace
From Foul Line

CHICAGO (AP) — Top-ranked Ohio State is on a Big Ten statistical stampede befitting its undefeated pace toward a second straight conference basketball title.

The Buckeyes, who meet last place Michigan Saturday in a regionally televised game, completely dominate Big Ten statistics.

They lead in scoring with 87.4 points a game, in defense with an average yield of 59.2, and in shooting percentages with averages of 46.6 from the floor and 82.0 from the free throw line.

The free-throw accuracy is a record pace, far ahead of the season mark of .744 per cent set in 1956 by Illinois. The Buckeyes, however, still have to measure up to the conference record of .497 from the field they set last year and Illinois' 91.2 point average in 1956.

Ford Claims Victory in Lions' Fight

DETROIT (AP)—Lions President William Clay Ford and his management group are claiming victory in the battle for control of the Detroit Football Co.

Ford and 10 of the 15 Lions directors met Wednesday to discuss the struggle with D. Lyle Fife, leader of the dissident stockholders.

"It seems apparent that if the dissident group insists upon pursuing the proxy fight, present management will win control of the board by an overwhelming majority," Ford said after the meeting.

Ford said he hoped a settlement with the Fife faction would be reached before the Lions' annual stockholders meeting Feb. 23. He said Fife's group could send "only a couple" directors in a showdown.

Dischinger Leads

Terry Dischinger of Purdue has regained top spot in individual scoring with a 26.4 average with Ohio State's Jerry Lucas second at 24.6.

Lucas is No. 1 in field goal percentage with .592 to Dischinger's .577. The Purdue star, however, tops him from the foul line at .933 to .917.

Other scoring leaders include John Tidwell, Michigan, 21.6; Walt Bellamy, Indiana, 20.6; Jerry Collangelo, Illinois, 18.7; Dick Hall, Michigan State, 17.5; Tom Boloyard, Indiana, 17.3; Don Nelson, Iowa, 17.0; Ralph Wells, Northwestern, 16.8 and Larry Siegfried, Ohio State, 16.4.

Lucas has captured the rebound lead from Bellamy, averaging 16.6 a game to 16.3 for the Hoosier ace. Indiana, as a team, is first in rebounding with a 53.3 average to 53.0 for the Buckeyes.

Art Levknecht Jars 595 Set

Jap Baseball Commissioner Orders Nankai to Pay Chisox

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's commissioner of baseball, eager to foot-5 pitcher for whom the White Sox shelled out some $30,000 in game's high brass in the United States when he was purchased from States, today ordered the Nankai Sacramento.

Hawks to pay the Chicago White Sox for pitcher Joe Stanka. "I feel Nankai has no obligation to send players or make a cash payment for Stanka," Inoue said, claiming to say what he thought. "But relations between the two 29-year-old right-hander who baseball circles should not be jumped to Japanese baseball is damaged by this incident."

But he said the payment should be in cash, not players. The Japanese baseball head that Stanka was still White Sox made no bones about his personal property and unless satisfaction feelings that the Osaka team he was received, Japan tours by U.S. gaily didn't owe the American teams might be banned.

Badger, he felt he was the one to do it. Besides, Ulwelling pointed out, it's much harder to drive against big men in the Big Ten. They don't commit themselves and aren't fooled as easily as in high school, he noted.

Ulwelling, who may change his academic major from business administration to education, still considers Appleton his "home" even though his parents now live in Minneapolis.

Medalists Continue To Set Pace in Mixed Foursomes Tournament

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Medalists Deane Benam of Bethesda, Md., and Ann Casey Johnson of Mason City, Iowa, led the way into the second round of the National Mixed Foursomes Golf Tournament today.

They defeated James Raymond, Delray Beach, Fla., and Mrs. John Dyson, Sugar Loaf, Pa., 3 and 2, and will play Truman Connell, Jupiter, Fla., and Joanne Goodwin, Haverhill, Mass., in today's second round.

Mr. and Mrs. Harton Semple, Sewickley, Pa., scored a mild upset by downing Don Carner, Providence, R.I., and Joann Gundersen, Seattle, Wash., 4 and 3.

Another feature match will send William Hydrman, Philadelphia, and Barbara Williams, Richmond, Calif., against Mr. and Mrs. Pete Dye, Indianapolis, Ind.

Lawrence Says Kennedy Now Admits U.S. Isn't Asleep

STATEMENTS DIFFER FROM THOSE MADE DURING CAMPAIGN

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Less than two weeks have passed since President Kennedy was inaugurated, but already in some things he is willing to acknowledge that the United States isn't dozing so poorly after all. In his "State of the Union" message this week, the President told the Democratic Party, the Republican Party and the people abroad the following about the controversial space program:

"Today this country is ahead in the science and technology of space, while the Soviet Union is ahead in the capacity to lift large vehicles into orbit."

The joint session of Congress interrupted the President with a burst of applause after the first part of the sentence was finished. For the statement must have come as a big surprise after what the world has been told heretofore by the critics. Indeed, those much-discussed public opinion polls about American "prestige" abroad—which have just been released by the State Department—put considerable emphasis on how foreign peoples last year construed the Soviet achievements in "spatniks" as proof of Soviet superiority.

Yet this very week the "Samos" satellite has been successfully put into orbit to photograph any part of the globe. Its purpose is to send back pictures such as the U-2 obtained intermittently for four years, though the new flying photographic apparatus moves around the world constantly at a height of 300 to 350 miles. It's a kind of "spy moon."

The "Samos" has been specially developed as a means of reconnaissance over the Soviet Union. Some day the American people will recognize in its true light what the U-2 flights really accomplished—they saved the United States from some terrible consequences of a surprise attack by being able to tell if military mobilization was occurring inside the Soviet Union. The "Midas," which is next to be launched, is expected to detect Soviet missiles the moment they leave their launching pads, giving this country at least 30 minutes' warning of an attack.

Nothing like all this could have been developed just in the last two weeks, and President Kennedy's statement to Congress, in effect, gives credit to the Eisenhower administration. He gives Russia credit only for being able "to lift large vehicles into orbit."

Thus the Soviets get an edge on "spectaculars," but on the important phases of space programs America is way on top.

When Kennedy said flatly to Congress that the United States is "ahead in the science and technology of space," this must have been true even on January 12 when a Kennedy "task force," in what is known as the Wiesner report, said:

"Neither the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as presently operated nor the fractionated military space program nor the big-dormant space council have been adequate to meet the challenge that the Soviet

Your Money's Worth

Tourist Imports Must be Reduced

BY SYLVIA PORTER

When my husband and I took our annual vacation in Mexico last fall, we agreed that while there we would load up on lovely pieces of silver at Mexico's much cheaper prices and bring home the limit allowed to us duty-free. Said we, "There we'll have the silver handy not only for special Christmas gifts but also for wedding, anniversary and birthday presents as they come up." So we did buy to our maximum of $500 each and every dollar we spent in Mexico City's stores we have not spent and will not spend in New York City's stores.

This is a privilege which I should no longer have and, in fact, I felt guilty even as I took advantage of it in December.

This is an incentive to spend our dollars in foreign stores which Congress should slash as soon as possible — certainly before American tourists start trekking to other lands by the hundreds of thousands this spring and summer.

No one denies now that it is imperative we act to close the gap between what our country spends abroad and earns abroad in order to slow the outflow of gold and protect the value of the U.S. dollar.

The high limit on duty-free imports by tourists contributes to thrust into space has posed to our military security and to our position of leadership in the world."

This report, too, conceded that America is ahead in "scientific" exploration of space, but the impression was conveyed to many people that America had made a failure of the whole space operation. Today experts here and abroad are not so much interested in how a monkey can travel in space—though in the monkey-business, too, America seems to be making real progress—but in what is truly of scientific and technological importance. Even in its narrowest sense, therefore, the Kennedy statement to Congress recognizes that the Eisenhower administration was n't asleep on the space problem.

No Stagnation

There has been an acceleration of the missile program ordered by the new administration, but it is a step-up that was inevitable and would have occurred just as soon as the experiments indicated—as they now do—that it is wise to go into quantity production.

There is room, of course, for "improved organization and decision-making." That's true of any new field of experimentation. Eventually, when the new secretary of defense makes a careful appraisal of the facts, it will be found that even the missile program, as well as the space program, did come fully to life after the usual period initially of caution and restraint. American experts haven't been concerned with "stunts" but with truly scientific and military potentials.

So it appears, after all, the Eisenhower administration—which fathered the "Samos" and the "Midas" and made it possible even to recover a flying chimpanzee—wasn't the mixture of stagnation and indifference that the Kennedy campaign speeches so vividly portrayed and thus helped win an election.

(Copyright, 1961)

Limit Raised

And Congress did respond. When World War II ended, the limit on duty-free imports was $100 by a tourist staying abroad at least two days. On May 20, 1948, Congress made a first move by raising that limit to $100 if the tourist stayed less than two days, $300 if he stayed abroad more than 12 days. On Oct. 25, 1949, Congress responded again, raised the limit to $200 for an under-two-day trip which, with the $300 limit on the longer stay, brought the maximum to the current $500.

But it is painfully obvious that the circumstances of the U.S. in the 1960s are not the circumstances of our country in the 1940s. Instead of struggling for dollars, many of our allies have a surplus of them. Instead of desperately needing our help to revive their economies and compete once more in the world markets, nearly all our allies have become fierce, exceedingly successful competitors to us.

The time has come for our travel authorities and agencies to encourage American tourists to spend more money at home. The time is overdue for the U.S. to put on a great drive to stimulate more foreign tourism here.

And the time is here for Congress to recognize that a $500 limit on duty-free imports is an undesirable incentive to tourist spending abroad, an unfair discrimination against American businessmen and workers, an unwelcome contribution to our nation's payments and gold problem. The limit should be cut. Fast.

Musical Comedies Popular This Season

St. Norbert, Oshkosh Collegians
Giving Broadway Hits in February

BY JINGO
This may very well become known as Interurbia's musical comedy season. The playbill—professional, community and collegian—has been filled with this type of entertainment.
Imogene Coca and, especially, Edward Everett Horton created a big hit in "Once Upon a Mattress" Sunday as the latest attraction.
Friday Feb. 10 St. Norbert College will open its fourth annual musical comedy offering with "Guys and Dolls," a show the Oshkosh Junior Players handled effectively last summer.
Lawrence College theater opened its fall season with that most musical of imports, "The Boy Friend."
Now the players at Wisconsin State College, Oshkosh, have announced they will stage "Finian's Rainbow" in their little theater Feb. 23, 24, and 25.

Jingo

Although Ibsen's "Peer Gynt," the intricate chore has appeared on the scene in goodly number.
The state's most successful pioneer in community lyric drama, the Florentine Opera Co. of Milwaukee, will stage "Lucia Di Lammermoor" at the Pabst Theater March 3 and 4. The widely known and respected tenor Robert Rounseville and Metropolitan Opera's Laurel Hurley will appear in the leading roles.
The girl who plays the dumb

blonde character in "Guys and Dolls" at St. Norbert is Meg Perkins. De Fure, who stands at the head of her class academically. Her sister, Priscilla, won the 1955 Wisconsin entry in the Miss Universe contest.

The movie "Solo" has been re-written to fit Hope Lange's role for Jayne Mansfield and Van Heflin's part for Louis Prima. The title must be the only thing left of the original.

It's unfair to prejudge anything, but this appears to be the top job of miscasting in the decade. A proposed TV serial about the Saturday Evening Post's dumpy, but good hearted "Hazel" is said to have Agnes Moorehead in the title role.

One of the Peter Panes of film, ageless Robert Cummings, will tell his secret in a new book, "Stay Young and Vital." Bob is the book's best advertisement. He's 52! The vet filler role he plays for the electronic cyclops is more of a character role for him than his interpretation of his "grandfather."

Tallulah Back On Broadway In Comedy

'Midgie Purvis' Gives Star Chance To Really Cut Loose

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP)—Glamorous Tallulah is back on Broadway—as a wacky and wonderful baby-sitter.

After extended absence, the redoubtable Miss Bankhead is exhibiting her prowess in "Midgie Purvis," a comedy which ignited rockets of hilarity in debut last Miss Bankhead night at the Martin Beck.

Even though the Mary Chase brew of whimsy and farce doesn't always manage perfection, the entertainment rates attention for all the opportunity it affords the star to cut loose.

The soigne Bankhead appears briefly in svelte satin and tulle—thereby reassuring fans that all's right with the world—before switching to wig and tatters as a make-believe grandma out on the town.

"Midgie Purvis" builds its house of cards charade on the quirk of a wealthy matron of 49 who decides to indulge in a bent for practical jokes just as her son is about to wed a very proper girl from Omaha.

Bankhead Bounces
She reappears as a disheveled crone, towing three sub-teen terrorists she has been hired to tend. At odd moments she sets about organizing a Mother Machree legion to urge other middle-aged women into the delights of assumed senescence.

Never a performer to hold back, Miss B. tears into the charade with athletic and vocal enthusiasm. She slides down a banister, swings on a fireman's pole, soars on a swing, cuts a Charleston.

When all else fails, the Bankhead basso distills mirth with authoritative score.

Busy Young Actress Needs Exact Schedule

NEW YORK (AP)—Jane Hoffman is a young actress on strenuous stage circuit.

Besides handling a first act role in Broadway's drama "The Rhinoceros," Miss Hoffman has taken over the feminine lead in off-Broadway production of "The American Dream." She got the latter call when another player decided the role was not for her.

An exact timetable enables Miss Hoffman to get across town in time for costume changes, even on matinee days when there are extra performances.

Night Club Comic Has Broadway Show Role

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Adams, night club comic and president of the American Guild of Variety Artists, bows into Broadway legit in the upcoming "The Whole Darn Shooting Match."

The Jack Perry script is being staged by Jack Whiting, veteran dancer, for April premiere.

Como Show Smooth, Good As Usual

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the mysteries of television is the way, week after week, Perry Como and his staff manage to turn out a smooth, tuneful and imaginative program. Almost any Wednesday the Como program proves more entertaining and better organized than the highly exploited special one-shot variety shows.

Wednesday night's Como show was no exception. His guests were singer Harry Belafonte and comedian Buddy Hackett. Each is a talented performer in his field, yet they are a difficult pair to blend into a well-knit show. But Como pulled it off.

Perhaps one of the secrets is that each program is based on an idea—often a fairly fragile one—but enough to give the hour form and substance. Wednesday night's, for instance, was a "stag show"—no women.

The camera work is always fine. Wednesday night's shots of Belafonte singing were so close one could see the pores of his skin and it was most effective. The sets are always clean and beautifully designed. Como sets a pleasant, even pace. And the program is always in good taste.

The die is apparently cast as far as the format of the future Jackie Gleason show is concerned. The program will be live Friday night, and Jackie will pull up a chair and chat with viewers—and with a name guest, if a likely one can be signed up. The four panel members of the first unfortunate show had been informed the game-show deal is all off.
